Subject: Hair Removal 101

Hair removal 101...
(God love the woman who shared this)

All hair removal methods have tricked us with their promises of easy, painless removal - The Epilady, scissors, razors, Nair and now...the wax.

My night began as any other normal weekday night. Come home, fix dinner, play with the kids. I then had the thought that would ring painfully in my mind for the next few hours: Maybe I should pull the wax out of the medicine cabinet.

So I headed to the site of my demise; the bathroom. It was one of those cold wax kits. No melting a clump of hot wax, you just rub the strips together in your hand and when they get warm you peel them apart and press it to your leg (or wherever else) and the hair comes right off. No muss, no fuss. How hard can it be? I mean, I'm no girly-girl but am mechanically inclined enough that I think I can figure it out.

YA THINK!!!!

So I pull one of the thin strips out. It's two strips facing each other stuck together. Instead of rubbing them together, I get out the hair dryer and heat it to 1000 degrees. Cold wax, my rear end! (Oh how this phrase haunts me!) I lay the strip across my thigh. Hold the skin around it tight and pull.

OK, so it wasn't the best feeling, but it wasn't too bad. I can do this! Hair removal no longer eludes me! I am She-ra, fighter of all wayward body hair and smooth skin extraordinaire. With my next wax strip I move north.

After checking on the kids, I sneak back into the bathroom for the ultimate hair fighting championship. I drop my panties and place one foot on the toilet. Using the same procedure, I apply the wax strip across the right side of bikini line, covering the right half of my vagina and stretching down to the inside of my butt cheek. (Yes, it was a long strip) I inhale deeply and brace myself.

RRRRRIIPPP!!!!

I'm blind!!! Blinded from pain!!!!.... OH MY GOD!!!!!!!!!! Vision returning, I notice that I've only managed to pulloff half of the strip. S&%T!!!

Another deep breath and RRIIPP.

Everything is swirling and spotted. Do I hear crashing drums??? OK, back to normal. I want to see my trophy - a wax covered strip with my hairy pelt that as caused me so much pain, sticking to it. I want to revel in the glory that is my triumph over body hair. I hold up the strip! There's no hair on it. Where is the hair? WHERE IS THE WAX??? Slowly I ease my head down, foot still perched on the toilet. I see the hair -- the hair that should be on the strip. I touch. I am touching wax. S&%T!! I run my fingers over the most sensitive part of my body, which is now covered in cold wax and matted hair. Then I make the next BIG mistake..... remember my foot is still propped up on the toilet. I know I need to do something. So I put my foot down.

DAMN!!!!!!!

I hear the slamming of the cell door. Vagina? Sealed shut. Butt?? Sealed shut. I penguin walk around the bathroom trying to figure out what to do and think to myself "Please don't let me get the urge to poop. My head may pop off" Hot water!! Hot water melts wax!! I'll run the hottest water I can stand into the bathtub, get in, immerse the wax covered bits and the wax should melt and I can gently wipe it off -- right???

WRONG!!!!!!!

I get in the tub - the water is slightly hotter than that used to torture prisoners of war or sterilize surgical equipment - I sit. Now, the only thing worse than having your businesses glued together is having them glued together and then glued to the bottom of the tub. In scalding hot water. Which, by the way, doesn't melt cold wax. So, now I'm stuck to the bottom of the tub!! God bless the man that convinced me I should have a phone in the bathroom!!!! I call my friend, thinking surely she's waxed before and has some secret of how to get me undone.

It's a very good conversation starter "So, my butt and who-ha are stuck to the bottom of the tub!!" There is a slight pause. She doesn't have a secret trick but does try to hide the laughter from me. She wants to know exactly where the wax is located on bottom. "Are we talking cheeks or hole or what?" She's laughing out loud by now...I can hear her. I give her the rundown and she suggests I call the number on the side of the box. YEAH!!!! Right!! I should be the joke of someone else's night.

While we go through various solutions, I resort to scraping the wax off with a razor. Nothing feels better than to have your girlie goodies covered in hot wax, glued shut, stuck to the tub in super hot water and then dry shaving the sticky wax off!! By now the brain is not working, dignity has taken a major hike, and I slip into glazed donut land.

My friend is still talking with me and my hand reaches towards the saving grace.... the lotion they give you to remove the excess wax. What do I really have to lose at this point. I rub some on and

-- OH MY GOD!!!!

The scream probably woke the kids, scared the dickens out of my friend, but I really don't care. "IT WORKS!! It works!!" I get a hearty congratulation from my friend and she hangs up. I successfully remove the remainder of the wax and then notice to my grief and despair.....THE HAIR IS STILL THERE.....ALL OF IT!!!

o I shaved it off. Heck, I'm numb at this point.

Next week, I'm going to try hair color...

Hey all,

Just a quick note to say France is great!! The food is wonderful and the wine is amazing!! I visited many cool sights and museums and did a lot of shopping too! We are pretty much done in Lyon and Vienne...next, on to Paris!! We will be taking the train (186 mph) which takes about 2 hours. Most of the people here are great...I have met many Frenchmen, some Italians, a Scotsman, a couple from Finland...very eclectic group...and my limited French learning is coming in quite handy!! Wish you could all be here...this is amazing! See you soon...if I decide to come home.

Don't reply to this bc I won't have time to check it again!

Teresa- my apologies on not speaking on this earlier. At the game Tues.

I need to have you ask your girls if they want 1 or 2 carnations for the parents. Most of mine want 2 per girl, give them a price of 1.50$ per flower. The girls can pay for this- not that expensive. I am sure most will ask parents for the $. Try to tell them to give from there own pocket.

Do

not give me $till next weeks game. I will cover till then. Just make note on

who paid and who did not, if it comes to be less I will let you know.

Please

include the 2 young gals who are misplaced from the team- If they do

want to take part and parents change minds and do not want to come, I will

cost. I will get a count from you when game is done and place order on

Wed.

Hello Teresa, I had my daughter in last year for Xmas pictures. I just noticed you have one of her pics on your web site! I am pregnant and would like to return and have you take some pictures of us. My daughter next to pregnant Mom's huge stomach. Thought some black and whites would be nice. Would you be able to do that? I was thinking end of this month, beginning of Nov. Thank you, Corinna Kovars

That sounds great. I will get back to you on a date/time. I am actually looking to do just a bare belly with my daughter holding on to me. So half shot of me. I hope that is ok...  Hello Corinna, A weekday is fine. This would fall under my black and white special pricing that I apply to newborns, it would be $35.99 for the session and an 8x10. Any additional prints are by regular price. A button down shirt works great. I usually recommend wearing solid black or white for this. Let me know if you have a date and time in mind. Thanks!

Hi Corinna, Yes, I certainly can do pregnancy photos, and congratulations! These can be very special portraits and I usually recommend black and white. You could also do photos of your daughter alone if you'd like. Are you thinking you'd like to schedule an appointment on a Saturday or during the week? My schedule is flexible. You'd also be able to at these before Christmas, if you're interested in cards or gifts. Thanks for your email! Teresa

The Bridal issue is coming out Oct 11th. This is our third of three issues we run each year in our magazine. We typically print 8-10 pages of editorial and advertising in our special sections. We have special section rates for these issues and I have listed those below along w/ our rate card.

In addition to this popular section, we are also featuring Deanna Farve on our cover for breast cancer awareness month. Last year we could hardly keep her on the shelves so we are running additional copies for our readers. Many readers fell in love with her last year as her story broke just around the same time our issue came out. This issue will talk about what she has gone through to overcome her illness.

Special section rates:

1x insertion - 6x rate off the rate card
2x insertion - 13x rate off the rate card
3x insertion - 26x rate off the rate card

Our spaced reservation is this Friday Sept 23rd and ad copy due early next week. Please feel free to give me a call with any questions you may have and to reserve your space.

Hey Teresa, I feel so bad emailing instead of calling. but it seems like i never have any time for myself or to just sit and talk. the job is going good, i like the people i work with, i don't get to adjust many people because i am not on any insurance companies yet. plus he wants me to go out and get my patients, which i understand but its hard to market and get out in the community when i am stuck in the office 55 hours a week! The one major negative is the hours i work. the office is 20 minutes from home so i have to stay for my lunch break which is 2 hours, but 3 out of the 5 days we have meetings during them anyway. we are open really early from 7am to 6pm monday, wed and fri and 9am till 6pm tues and thursday. plus sometimes patients come in late or we have more fucking meetings and we are here till 7pm. so the hours

really suck! i am supposed to get a half day off, but i don't think until another month from now. i kinda do alot of shit work so, which i knew i would but sometimes it gets frustrating. the money is better than my other job but then i only worked there 3 days a week!! i guess what i am trying to say is....i hate working 5 days a week!! :) but i'll deal until i either leave or get enough patients to make my own hours. things with chris are good. we still have our fights but most of the time we have fun and enjoy each other more than before. the most recent news is...we have another son! i'm not prego but we adopted another dog 2 weeks ago. his name is romeo and he is 7 months old we think, he is part great dane, part shar pei! its quite a cute mix, he is a little stinker at times but a pretty good dog. niko is still hanging in there, he is still sick all the time but now he has a buddy to play with during the day, i think he likes him, i almost think he has been less sick since we got romeo, but i can't say for sure. but boo boo loves romeo, they play and chase each other more than niko does. its pretty funny to watch. i was home last weekend with chris for my mom's wedding, i meant to call you to let you know i was going to be in fondy but i am so bad about calling plus as soon as i get home i feed the dogs and myself and go to bed. i hate waking up at 5:30am, i don't even have any energy to workout cuz i am so tired. so i never call anyone except on weekends and then i talk for hours cuz i haven't talked with them for weeks!! i promise i will make time to call you. i have a seminar this weekend, so if traffic isn't too bad i will call on my drive there, its like a half hour away, kinda sucks! lets see....oh my dad, he is doing pretty good, i got to see him for a couple hours over the weekend, definetly wasn't enough time but we are going to wisconsin for christmas so we will try to make plans with you. but he is doing ok, he still cannot walk by himself, he just started taking water aerobic classes last week and he really liked it and i guess there are some other stroke patients that take that class and have improved alot so my dad feels really good about that, but not too much more improvement. everyone else in my fam is doing good, i would love it if you could come and visit us since you are calming down a bit with your work. but if not, we definetly have to get together around xmas. you will have to make sure and tell everyone in GB i said hello, maybe chris and i will come up for a day, i think he would like that and so would i. its been forever since i've seen everyone and i miss them, i can't believe how time flies and people's lives change!! i guess thats enough writing, i may get carpel tunnel and take some time off...he thats not a bad idea, i could use a day off!! :) i guess i am lazy! anyway, i miss you so much and again i am sorry i didn't call you back.....yet!! email for me, right now is the easiest thing, but i will try my damndest to call you this weekend. take care and i will talk to you soon. love, meggan

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg! Since I can't get a hold of you by phone, I thought I'd try an email! I'm curious as to how the new job is going, how life is in KC, how's Chris? how was your mom's wedding? how's your dad doing? how was your birthday? what's your new address? See why I've been trying to call - so many questions! Life is pretty crazy for me right now. Business is busy, which is awesome, but tiring. I'd just like a day off once in awhile, but gotta pay the bills! I actually am done with weddings for now also. Until January at least. Unless someone books last minute. Which is always a possibility. I did a wedding last night and then I did a wedding show all day today. It was my first wedding show - you know- I display my work and the brides-to-be come flowing in and ooh and aahh over my work. Kind of a nice feeling. I'm sure I'll get some jobs from it, so that's cool, but it was a looooooonggggggggggg weekend, that's for sure. I don't know if I've told you but I'm coaching volleyball for my sister Kelly's 7th grade team. It takes up so much of my time, but I really enjoy it. It's great to get to spend so much time with my sister and have something we share together. The team is 4-2. I love my team. One of the girls, Liz, is this really great girl who you wouldn't pick out as being much of an athlete. But at the beginning of the season, I told her I wanted her to work on her overhand serve. During the first game, she was like "Can I Pllllleeeeeeaaaaasssssssssseeeeeeee serve underhand, Coach?" I was like, "No, I know you can serve overhand!" (smile) That next weekend, she went home and practiced her overhand serve, and since then she has been one of my best servers. The back story on this girl is that she lives with her dad and grandma. I guess her dad is an alcoholic or something, and her grandma watches tv all day. She only sees her mom once a year or so. So her parents rarely come to her games-well, her dad has been to one and that's it. One week, I ended up giving her a ride to two different games, so I got to talking to her a little more. That following week, I noticed that she was very attentive at practice and really enthusiastic. At the end of practice, she came up to me and gave me a hug. It was so sweet. I said to my sister on the way home "I think Liz really likes me" Kelly said "Teresa, I think everyone on the team really likes you!" (warm fuzzy) Anyway, I realized that I am really this girl's only young female role model. The rest of the girls get so much support from their parents. Liz always has to walk to practice and find her own ride home. I give that girl a lot of credit. She's one of those girls that you could see getting pregnant at 15 or something, because she just wants to feel loved. I think I'm impacting her life in my own way. Anyway, that's my little story about why I love coaching. It fills my heart. I'm pretty annoyed at the roommate. The guy is a pig and I can't stand to be around him most days. Luckily, we don't see much of each other. The man situation is pretty lame. Nothing much going on there. Although Ryan stopped by last night because he and Scott were going out and he was checking me out (oh, I know when he's checking me out, but I didn't mention it to him). Anyway, it gets me thinking - how was it that this guy held my interest for so long and I allowed myself to love him so much and nothing else has come up since then? It's strange, but that's my life. Not like I'm wanting to get back together with him, but I would like to feel that way about someone again. I'm going out with Hooch and Kate and anybody else this weekend. it was their birthday's last week. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. It's a pain to drive up to GB when I'm there every day, then I come home for volleyball practice or games or Whatever, the last thing I want to do is do more driving! But everyone's busy anyway. Amanda is like 6 months pregnant I guess. I bet she looks cute. Other than that, not much new with anyone there. I think the last time I saw Abby was when you were in town in July. She's busy with her man of course. Hope all's well with you and I'd love to hear all about your life! One more thing: I have a website now. Check out www.teresaphoto.com! It's very exciting! Love, T

TO CHOOSE TIME IS TO SAVE TIME

You always have enough time if you will but use it wisely.

Your dilemma goes deeper than having a shortage of time, it's basically a problem of priorities.

Most people leave undone those things that should be done, while they do things that they shouldn't be doing.

Set priorities for your goals.

A major part of successful living lies in your ability to put first things first.

Most major goals are not achieved because people put second things first.

What you're doing getting you closer to your objectives?

Anything that is wasted effort represents wasted time.

Don't serve time, make time serve you.

Hello Teresa- sorry for the delay, family keeps me on the go. The Wed., Oct. 12th will work for photos. I will need to be gone by 5:30 that evening. It does not really matter how we set up times just as long as you allow yourself enough time to complete your job. If practice runs later or is cut short it will not make that much of a difference as long as we inform the parents of what time to bring them and pick them up. I think the 5th/6th grade have practice from 3:00-4:30 might want to get them before so their hair is all neat- you know girls. Then hit the 7th/8th right after them or just before we start 4:30-6:00. Speak to Jill on a time that will work best for her and the team. Just inform them of a price package as well. Thanks again. Yes, you can also inform the parents of an appreciation night on the Monday, Oct. 17. We will have to get together and chat on the details but Sherwood Florist will be giving us a deal on carnations for the day. I think the girls can cover the cost $1.50/$1.25 was what she quoted. They bulk order 25 at a crack. One per family or one per parent? We will need a count by the 10 to give them an order- I thought orange carnations & white ones tipped black (or all black) would be cool-no extra cost. Good to hear you have the rule book did not know where it was. Thanks Lisa -----Original Message-----

I have a rulebook Lisa. I'll bring it on Monday to practice. I think the 12th will work for pictures. Do you want to actually extend practice or should we cut into it? For example, I could do the 5th-6th graders starting at 4:00 and then I could get the 7th and 8th graders before practice starts or right at the beginning of practice. It shouldn't take too much time. Team pictures take the longest. And it should be easier for me because I know all the girls names and don't have to worry about tagging photos to a name! Lisa, I'll probably have you take our team photo, since I'll be in it! Parents' night sounds good to me. Since I am making a handout to give the parents information for photos, I can also include that info on there so all parents know they should come to that game. Flowers sounds good to me. Do you think each girl could contribute $2 or something? We can talk more on that. Just so you both understand about photos, I had been thinking about doing them since the season started. I've been trying to get a hold of Mike Schaffer since then as well. He had done the team photos for years and I didn't want to step on his toes. I left him a message just this week and haven't heard back from him. I'm assuming since his girls are out of SJSH, he doesn't want to do them anymore. I'm happy to do them! I agree on family fun night. Since we're having a parent's night, that's fine to skip it. I'll probably have a little party with just my team, as you'll both probably do as well? Thanks! Good luck to Lisa at the tournament this weekend! Teresa

Eric & Lisa Olson <eolo@tds.net> wrote: Hello- Do either of you have the official WIAA rule book? There was a strange call made in this last game and I wanted to reference it.

Thanks Teresa for spearheading the photos just let Jill and I know what you're up to so we can plan accordingly. If you are doing them we would prefer to have the photo session the night of a practice as to not rearrange everyone's time schedule. Something I need more of these days-time.

Parents Night looks good for the last home game Monday Oct. 17- Flowers to the parents from the girls(We Pay or do they for the flowers?- need to chat on this) Do this before each game- introduce them/thank them for their help- no speeches. We always have time to burn since our games have been going quick . 8th grade will not be having a family fun night, after last year I personally do not wish to- but if you both want to then majority goes.

Thanks and have a great weekend.

> Teresa,

thanks for the great feedback and ideas. Yes I do want to get to one of your games yet. Thanks for the invite.

I am pasting a email sent about two weeks ago to someone else on the subject of girls BB. I appreciate your involvement and ideas. Please continue and thank you on behalf of all at SJSH.

Thanks for your ideas. Unfortunately BB is not a ways off for the league. The planning is over from the team perspective. League deadlines were 2 weeks ago. It was decided by Mr. Sievert, Tracy Hemeauer and I to have one 8th grade girls team comprised of the 7th and 8th graders. We did not have enough 8th grade girls to form a team (5 signed-up). We had 8 7th grade girls sign-up.
THAT DOESN'T MEAN ALL WILL PLAY OR TURN IN THE NECESSARY PAPERWORK. I HOPE THEY ALL DO.

After last year doing shuffling with a boys teams and hearing complaints from parents, coaches and then having a student not show up on the game night they were assigned to play on the other team and having to get a diocese exception to a league rule, it was decided not to do that again.

ADMIT THERE IS NOT A PERFECT SOLUTION. THE PERFECT SOLUTION IS TO HAVE 3 MORE 8TH GRADE GIRLS. There is no perfect plan and we will never make everyone happy.

in addition, we still do not have enough coaches who have even verbally committed to coaching the teams we have needs for - I have no interest in adding more teams when I don't have coaches for the ones I have. I very much appreciate the assistance of Charlie and I know the head coach will to. Tentatively, it looks like Eric Bornemann will be coaching the 8 th grade team and have the assistance of Charlie and John Zitelberger. Thank you for your assistance and ideas. It is very difficult to balance all the objectives and goals of everyone. Many times the ideas of people conflict but we need to be a team.

As far as who is coaching I have received one coaches' agreement back at this time - Dean and Tracy Heamuer. Others have expressed a verbal interest but have not completed the necessary paperwork yet.

As far as your questions/comments about Dale Marx. Thank you for the compliments. I agree he should do a great job. He will be coaching 7th grade boys comprised of 4 7th graders and 8 6th graders. A VERY SIMILAR SITUATION TO THE 8TH GRADE GIRLS TEAM. Creating a rotation in a girls team would likely lead to calls for a rotation in the boys team. Then we would have twice as many problems as last year when we did that. We have made these decision always remembering some students who signed up may not be playing for personal reasons, family trips, or grades and we have our pool of coaches nearly used up.

Thanks again for the email. Please feel free to forward this email to anyone else. It often happens a week later I get the same thoughts from someone else. You have my permission to forward it to anyone. I included a copy to Mr. Sievert and Tracy Hemauer so as to help keep everyone compromised of feedback.

Ideas, questions, and concerns always welcome.

The above is 2 weeks old or so.

Anyhow, just wanted to let you know that I wouldn't mind being an assistant coach for basketball for my sister's team. I'm not as confident in the sport of basketball, but I feel that I could help out in more of a "moral support" role. Just a thought - if there's enough interest, it's not something I'd fight for or anything! I'd love to help out if I could.

> The girls don't seem very happy with the idea of having a combined 7th-8th grade basketball team. Again, I'm not sure where all this comes from, and I realize that nothing is set in stone yet. Of course, 13 year-olds don't always know what's best for them! I guess I'm curious as to what the situation is and if there's any input I can give you to help.

> If you have a free night on one of our game nights, I think you'd really enjoy watching our girls play! All three teams are very talented. I'm getting so much positive feedback from parents(knock on wood).

Message Am I scheduled for the 10 minute on 10/19? If so, I need to swap dates. I have a Securities Meeting that was just rescheduled to the same time that I must attend. I can go a week earlier or later, whichever works out best in the rotation. Thanks, Heather Rau American Family Agent (920) 499-6611 hrau@amfam.com

Hello lady cakes! I got your e-mail, and actually, i'm doing something rather taboo by e-mailing you right now, but technically it's not nine o'clock yet, so i'm in the clear. hah. i'm so so so glad that you volleyball is doing well. and i am so glad that a woman like you is a role model to girls like them. i couldn't find a better person for young women to look up to. that's so awesome. it's so funny, because i actually think of you a lot and your team. some nights i'm like, 'i wonder if teresa's team is playing tonight...i hope they win' i truly do! and don't get discouraged if you see your girls doing things that you know isn't good for them. you're planting many seeds and you may not see them grow in the time that you're with them. but you are making a huge difference. i'm so happy. you're such a great lady. so much has happened since i talked to you last. not huge stuff, but just lots o' stuff. i don't have a whole lot of time to tell you, but i'll try to give you a rundown. i love my job still. now i'm quite settled in and am starting to understand office drama. meh. i try my best to stay out of it. it's hard though. i have two other women on my team and instead of treating me like a team member that they need to communicate with and inform, they treat me like an office assistant and treat each other like cutesy best friends. what's even more funny is that they aren't even trainers for the same departments. one is a retail trainer and the other is a wholesale trainer. so, instead of the wholesale trainer telling me about the wholesale accounts, she tells the retail trainer. a lot a good that'll do. but, i digress. it's not that terrible when you just get used to the fact that that is the way it is and just do your job. i do. i just do my best and i know that i can't be doing any better, so what's there to worry about? so, it can be real irritating if i allow myself to see it the way it should be instead of the way it is. you know? but i still love teaching. i do. some people are insane and the dumbest people i've ever met and some people are wonderful. my most recent horror training was with a woman who wanted to do all organic fair trade in her cafe. she had been to italy like once - for, i'm sure, like two days - and decided that she new everything she needed to know about good italian espresso and cafeh lattehs. (she pronounced it like the italians in such a ridiculous way, but she was serious the whole time) anyway, she didn't listen to a dang thing i said, had the worst espresso machine in the world and persisted in telling me that her 1minute and 15second shots were okay because they still had the "foam" on top. (first of all, shots are supposed to extract within 20-25 seconds and the "foam" on top is not called foam, it's called crema) both of which i was painfully trying to teach her and her staff. but she totally wouldn't listen. she was the worst ADD woman i have ever seen. she began telling me how i needed to pull my shots and make my drinks. then her employees started to tell me that "oh, well, the other place i worked said to never do that with the milk pitcher, so you should never do that ,sarah, really." i felt like i was in an alternate reality. i had no idea that people could honestly get through life like this and not: a) get hit by a bus b)get assasined or c) get lit on fire by their espresso trainer. i just walked out of that place laughing my butt off. it's so hard. she had a great new place. all shiny, great ambiance, great pastries, but you almost new right then and there that she wasn't going to make it. it makes you feel kind of sad. but not, 'cause she was absolutely the most ridiculous shop owner i have met yet. okay, i really need to go now. i have so much more to tell you!!! i went to a wedding in kentucky last weekend and had the most enjoyable refreshing time i've ever had at a wedding, let alone a get together! it was wonderful. you'd would've loved doing pictures for it. (and let me tell ya, you would have done a heck of a lot better than the girl who did 'em. yikes!) but i do have to go. really. i have a training soon and i must prepare. i want to write more soon. i love my big T like i love my red cowboy boots kluthers

Teresa,
Thats a bummer that you are booked. I was looking forward to working with you. Yeah, It would be really helpful if you

Message Recently I overheard a mother and daughter in their last moments together at the airport. They had announced the departure.

Standing near the security gate, they hugged and the mother said, "I love you and I wish you enough".

The daughter replied, "Mom, our life together has been more than enough. Your love is all I ever needed. I wish you enough, too, Mom".

They kissed and the daughter left. The mother walked over to the window where I was seated. Standing there I could see she wanted and needed to cry. I tried not to intrude on her privacy but she welcomed me in by asking, "Did you ever say good-bye to someone knowing it would be forever?".

Yes, I have," I replied. "Forgive me for asking, but why is this a forever good-bye?".

"I am old and she lives so far away. I have challenges ahead and the reality is - the next trip back will be for my funeral," she said.

"When you were saying good-bye, I heard you say, 'I wish you enough'. May I ask what that means?".

She began to smile. "That's a wish that has been handed down from other generations. My parents used to say it to everyone". She paused a moment and looked up as if trying to remember it in detail and she smiled even more. "When we said, 'I wish you enough', we were wanting the other person to have a life filled with just enough good things to sustain them". Then turning toward me, she shared the following as if she were reciting it from memory.

I wish you enough sun to keep your attitude bright no matter how gray the day may appear.

I wish you enough rain to appreciate the sun even more.

I wish you enough happiness to keep your spirit alive and everlasting.

I wish you enough pain so that even the smallest of joys in life may appear bigger.

I wish you enough gain to satisfy your wanting.

I wish you enough loss to appreciate all that you possess.

I wish you enough hellos to get you through the final good-bye.

She then began to cry and walked away.

They say it takes a minute to find a special person, an hour to appreciate them, a day to love them but then an entire life to forget them.

To all my friends and loved ones,
I WISH YOU ENOUGH.....

From: pattischu@hotmail.com [/ym/Compose?To=pattischu@hotmail.com&YY=66506&order=down&sor...]

Dear Women of the World:

just have to thank you for the overwhelming responses and support to my question. I have received some really great emails and from all over the world!
I am going to try and get back to each one personally, but it may take a while because the responses are still coming in and I am currently using a public computer (I am absolutely desperate for a computer!)
From what I have been hearing there are a lot of women with experience about SSRIs, some of who went off of them while pregnant and some of them who stayed on, following doctors' advice. I have concluded that I should look into switching to a different SSRI and then perhaps coming off of that. Either that or plan a 6 month tapering off, as some of you suggested. What made me feel almost ecstatic is that there are so many of you who had babies in your forties, both on and off of SSRIs and they are beautiful and happy babies!!! I have been feeling so alone and frightened and now have much more optimism about it. Other than the old panic, I have been pretty healthy and still am very regular (sorry if that is too much information).
Anyway, I decided to post this because there may be others feeling isolated out there and just wanted you to know that you are not alone. Thank you to everyone who has replied so far!

Subject: New Coworker with questionable intentions

From: Anonymous

I have a new co worker who is nice and pleasant enough. Twice this week (he has been here 3 months now) He has withheld information from me that caused confusion and impacted my credibility with my manager. He is modifying and revising processes to suit himself and his skill set. When I don't share his vision, that is when the confusion starts. Here is the dilemma; he does this in a very innocent seeming passive way. It is always as if he does not what he is doing could be viewed as contentious or cast me in a less than favorable light. My company just did a huge reorganization. I am 45+ and my co worker is in his 30s. Am I being paranoid or is it possible that I am being subjected to a subtle form of passive aggressive sabotage. It is becoming very unpleasant to come to work and I am beginning to circulate my resume. Any advice? Please elp.

Dear WorldWIT members,

Anne Jennings here - your moderator, located at WorldWIT HQ in Boulder, Colorado. I am really happy to correspond with all of you and help you get your messages posted to WorldWIT. Here are a couple of quick notes to help you use your WorldWIT email group:

- 1) Remember to send messages from the address from which you are subscribed to and receive the digest in plain text and with no attachments.
- 2) To post your message directly to your local chapter, please send it to the chapter address (e.g. arkwit@worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=arkwit@worldwit.org&YY=66506&order=down&sort=...])
- 3) To post your message to a different chapter, or worldwide, please send it to me directly at moderator2@worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=moderator2@worldwit.org&YY=66506&order=down&s...] and let me know where you'd like it posted
- 3) To reply to a message so that your reply reaches the entire chapter membership, just hit Reply to any digest
- 4) To post directly to the individual post-er in addition to the list, look for the "From xxxxx@xxxxx" above the message and reply to that email address as well.
- 5) To post a message anonymously, simply indicate at the top of your message, PLEASE POST ANONYMOUSLY.
- 6) Lots of times you miss a response or want to ask a question that you know the helpful members have already discussed -- try searching the list archives for previous posts! To search the archives, first visit www.worldwit.org/members and set up a user account name and password. From that same page you can click on the link to go directly to the searchable archives.
- 7) I'll kindly write you if we can't post your message, but also please remember to check out the WorldWIT Posting Guidelines at www.worldwit.org/PostingGuidelines.aspx

Hope that helps!

Also, I get a lot of questions about sponsorship messages. To place a 50-word sponsorship message on any daily WorldWIT digest (one city), the cost is $150. A sponsor message is a great way to reach the accomplished and influential WorldWIT audience! More comprehensive sponsorship programs

re available that include messaging on our weekly Thinking Aloud newsletter;
our WorldWIT Radio program; local WorldWIT events and our annual conference,
Camp WorldWIT; and, our course, the daily WorldWIT digests. For more information on sponsorship, please reply to this message and let me know how
I can help you reach our wonderful WorldWIT audience. Thanks!

Hello lady cakes! I got your e-mail, and actually, i'm doing something rather taboo by e-mailing you right now, but technically it's not nine o'clock yet, so i'm in the clear. hah. i'm so so so glad that you volleyball is doing well. and i am so glad that a woman like you is a role model to girls like them. i couldn't find a better person for young women to look up to. that's so awesome. it's so funny, because i actually think of you a lot and your team. some nights i'm like, 'i wonder if teresa's team is playing tonight...i hope they win' i truly do! and don't get discouraged if you see your girls doing things that you know isn't good for them. you're planting many seeds and you may not see them grow in the time that you're with them. but you are making a huge difference. i'm so happy. you're such a great lady. so much has happened since i talked to you last. not huge stuff, but just lots o' stuff. i don't have a whole lot of time to tell you, but i'll try to give you a rundown. i love my job still. now i'm quite settled in and am starting to understand office drama. meh. i try my best to stay out of it. it's hard though. i have two other women on my team and instead of treating me like a team member that they need to communicate with and inform, they treat me like an office assistant and treat each other like cutesy best friends. what's even more funny is that they aren't even trainers for the same departments. one is a retail trainer and the other is a wholesale trainer. so, instead of the wholesale trainer telling me about the wholesale accounts, she tells the retail trainer. a lot a good that'll do. but, i digress. it's not that terrible when you just get used to the fact that that is the way it is and just do your job. i do. i just do my best and i know that i can't be doing any better, so what's there to worry about? so, it can be a little irritating if i allow myself to see it the way it should be instead of the way it is. you know? but i still love teaching. i do. some people are insane and the dumbest people i've ever met and some people are wonderful. my most recent horror training was with a woman who wanted to do all organic fair trade in her cafe. she had been to italy like once - for, i'm sure, like two days - and decided that she new everything she needed to know about good italian espresso and cafeh lattehs. (she pronounced it like the italians in such a ridiculous way, but she was serious the whole time) anyway, she didn't listen to a dang thing i said, had the worst espresso machine in the world and persisted in telling me that her 1minute and 15second shots were okay because they still had the "foam" on top. (first of all, shots are supposed to extract within 20-25 seconds and the "foam" on top is not called foam, it's called crema) both of which i was painfully trying to teach her and her staff. but she totally wouldn't listen. she was the worst ADD woman i have ever seen. she began telling me how i needed to pull my shots and make my drinks. then her employees started to tell me that "oh, well, the other place i worked said to never do that with the milk pitcher, so you should never do that ,sarah, really." i felt like i was in an alternate reality. i had no idea that people could honestly get through life like this and not: a) get hit by a bus b)get assasined or c) get lit on fire by their espresso trainer. i just walked out of that place laughing my butt off. it's so hard. she had a great new place. all shiny, great ambiance, great pastries, but you almost new right then and there that she wasn't going to make it. it makes you feel kind of sad. but not, 'cause she was absolutely the most ridiculous shop owner i have met yet. okay, i really need to go now. i have so much more to tell you!!! i went to a wedding in kentucky last weekend and had the most enjoyable refreshing time i've ever had at a wedding, let alone a get together! it was wonderful. you'd would've loved doing pictures for it. (and let me tell ya, you would have done a heck of a lot better than the girl who did 'em. yikes!) but i do have to go. really. i have a training soon and i must prepare. i want to write more soon. i love my big T like i love my red cowboy boots kluthers

WorldWIT will host Camp WorldWIT 2006, its third annual, one-of-a-kind business conference, in the comfortable and casual environment of Trout Lodge from May 4-7, 2006.

Located just 90 miles south of St. Louis in the Ozark Mountains, the YMCA facility (www.ymcaoftheozarks.org) combines rustic surroundings and lakefront views with comfortable accommodations and the convenience of wireless Internet. During the long weekend, Campers share entrepreneurial and corporate learning, hear outstanding keynoters and panel discussions, and have ample opportunities to share best practices.

Camp WorldWIT 2006 will be the off-the-grid networking event of the year, so please save the date, and read about the planning progress for Camp WorldWIT 2006 at our Camp blog: <http://tinyurl.com/dhyye> [<http://tinyurl.com/dhyye>] . If you'd like to receive a special notice when Early Bird registration becomes available, please write to rosemaryr@corp.worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=rosemaryr@corp.worldwit.org&YY=80260&order=do...] .

We hope you can join us!

Dear Anonymous,
I say, Trust your instincts. If you haven't felt or been told that you are paranoid, then listen to your gut and exercise caution with the friendly-but-devicious new co-worker.

Each time that you feel you've been misled, or that he has used selective communication to only tell you half of what you need to know, go back to him. Your posture in these interactions is friendly, but puzzled.

"Brad,"
you can say, "I need your help. There was a lot of confusion in the Marketing meeting about the pricing for the new product line. Jack said that you and he ironed everything out yesterday, but when you and I met this morning, you said that you didn't have details. Can we sort out what happened?"

You have to call him on this EVERY TIME. You will not get a straight answer and you won't get a clear resolution. That isn't your intention. Your job is to let this guy know that he can't play you like that. Two or three repetitions should do it. If you just can't get him to be straight with you, you can approach the issue publicly - say, at a meeting - by using the same quizzical tone and expression. "Okay, that's weird, Brad," you say, "because in our meeting yesterday you said there hadn't been a decision about that issue." Put his two-facedness on display. I'm confident that you will shift
his behavior, at least with respect to you.

Good luck. Trust your gut.
Cheers,
Liz

Subject: Liz's thoughts on babies after 40

From: lizryan@corp.worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=lizryan@corp.worldwit.org&YY=80260&order=down...]

I was tickled to see Patti's note thanking WorldWITters for their advice on SSRIs and pregnancy, and for affirming for her that people really do have babies after age 40. When I was pregnant with my youngest, who was born when I was 42, I was freaked out about the "old mom" thing too. Now I think....how silly of me! People said to me then, "But you'll be 60 when he goes to college!" Okay, and...your point would be? What, will I be incapacitated suddenly, on my 60th birthday? Forty is the new thirty, so I hear. It's hard enough for a lot of people to become pregnant over 40, so if you have that good fortune, please, please don't lay the "older mom - oh no" trip on yourself too. Be happy, and take a nap.
cheers
Liz

Subject: Has anyone had a baby over 40 while on an antidepressant?

From: pattischu@hotmail.com [/ym/Compose?To=pattischu@hotmail.com&YY=72747&order=down&sor...]

Dear Women:

MSNBC just announced that the FDA found that there is an increase in birth defects for women who take antidepressants (Paxil) while pregnant. I just turned 41 and have always badly wanted children. I am not ready at the moment financially and relationship-wise but want to keep myself in the best possible condition to have one. I take this antidepressant and have for the past 9 years. Originally it was for anxiety (I had panic attacks in the past) but haven't for the past 9 years while on the antidepressant. I would just stop taking it but past attempts have left me with severe headaches to the point I can't function.

Does anyone else have any experience or know of someone who had a child while taking antidepressants? The studies have not established a direct relationship between the drug and birth defects - just an increased likelihood (which means it could be the drug or something else.) I'm worried

I'd have to go into the hospital to come off of it and don't want the expense right now.

Any advice is appreciated.

Please reply to the list or email me. I think many women could benefit from knowing these things.

Oops our apologies to Coach Effect. We made a mistake in the sponsor message we sent out yesterday that said Flanigan Communications the correct sponsor is actually Coach Effect. All of the other information is correct about the Womens Teleconference, though!

Jennifer Mounce is the founder of Coach Effect and Liz Ryan had the opportunity recently to interview Jennifer on WorldWIT Radio check it out:

Coach Effect is a business coaching boutique and Jennifer says typical leadership development doesnt translate to the workplace and she offers strategies on making it realistically fit in to a business persons day and offers solutions, including an international teleconference on Oct 11-14, which will fit into nearly every leaders schedule

(www.womensteleconference.com ).

So check out the website it looks like it will be a great event!

Subject: Seeking alternative to hiking the Cotswold Way in England

From: marney@ffpia.com [/ym/Compose?To=marney@ffpia.com&YY=30619&order=&sort=]

My husband and I had an enchanting experience hiking the Cotswold Way in in England 3 years ago, however, some of the hill climbing was challenging.
We loved the villages, the ruins, and the beautiful landscapes. It was our best trip ever. Now we are thinking of taking another similar adventure, but not constant hill climbing--a few would be okay. Does anyone have a suggestion for an interesting walking trip, about 12 - 14 days for next Spring? It could be anywhere.

Hello- Do either of you have the official WIAA rule book? There was a strange call made in this last game and I wanted to reference it.

Thanks Teresa for spearheading the photos just let Jill and I know what you are up to so we can plan accordingly. If you are doing them we would prefer to have the photo session the night of a practice as to not rearrange everyone's time schedule. Something I need more of these days-time.

Parents Night looks good for the last home game Monday Oct. 17- Flowers to the parents from the girls(We Pay or do they for the flowers?- need to chat on this) Do this before each game- introduce them/thank them for their help- no speeches. We always have time to burn since our games have been going quick . 8th grade will not be having a family fun night, after last year I personally do not wish to- but if you both want to then majority goes.

Thanks and have a great weekend.
Lisa

Hey Teresa, I feel so bad emailing instead of calling. but it seems like i never have any time for myself or to just sit and talk. the job is going good, i like the people i work with, i don't get to adjust many people because i am not on any insurance companies yet. plus he wants me to go out and get my patients, which i understand but its hard to market and get out in the community when i am stuck in the office 55 hours a week! The one major negative is the hours i work. the office is 20 minutes from home so i have to stay for my lunch break which is 2 hours, but 3 out of the 5 days we have meetings during them anyway. we are open really early from 7am to 6pm monday, wed and fri and 9am till 6pm tues and thursday. plus sometimes patients come in late or we have more fucking meetings and we are here till 7pm. so the hours really suck! i am supposed to get a half day off, but i don't think until another month from now. i kinda do alot of shit work too, which i knew i would but sometimes it gets frustrating. the money is better than my other job but then i only worked there 3 days a week!! i guess what i am trying to say is....i hate working 5 days a week!! :) but i'll deal until i either leave or get enough patients to make my own hours. things with chris are good. we still have our fights but most of the time we have fun and enjoy each other more than before. the most recent news is...we have another son! i'm not prego but we adopted another dog 2 weeks ago. his name is romeo and he is 7 months old we think, he is part great dane, part shar pei! its quite a cute mix, he is a little stinker at times but a pretty good dog. niko is still hanging in there, he is still sick all the time but now he has a buddy to play with during the day, i think he likes him, i almost think he has been less sick since we got romeo, but i can't say for sure. but boo boo loves romeo, they play and chase each other more than niko does. its pretty funny to watch. i was home last weekend with chris for my mom's wedding, i meant to call you to let you know i was going to be in fondy but i am so bad about calling plus as soon as i get home i feed the dogs and myself and go to bed. i hate waking up at 5:30am, i don't even have any energy to workout cuz i am so tired. so i never call anyone except on weekends and then i talk for hours cuz i haven't talked with them for weeks!! i promise i will make time to call you. i have a seminar this weekend, so if traffic isn't too bad i will call on my drive there, its like a half hour away, kinda sucks! lets see....oh my dad, he is doing pretty good, i got to see him for a couple hours over the weekend, definety wasn't enough time but we are going to wisconsin for christmas so we will try to make plans with you. but he is doing ok, he still cannot walk by himself, he just started taking water aerobic classes last week and he really liked it and i guess there are some other stroke patients that take that class and have improved alot so my dad feels really good about that, but not too much more improvement. everyone else in my fam is doing good, i would love it if you could come and visit us since you are calming down a bit with your work. but if not, we definety have to get together around xmas. you will have to make sure and tell everyone in GB i said hello, maybe chris and i will come up for a day, i think he would like that and so would i. its been forever since i've seen everyone and i miss them, i can't believe how time flies and people's lives change!! i guess thats enough writing, i may get carpel tunnel and take some time off....he thats not a bad idea, i could use a day off!! :) i guess i am lazy! anyway, i miss you so much and again i am sorry i didn't call you back.....yet!! email for me, right now is the easiest thing, but i will try my damndest to call you this weekend. take care and i will talk to you soon.
love, meggan

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg! Since I can't get a hold of you by phone, I thought I'd try an email! I'm curious as to how the new job is going, how life is in KC, how's Chris? how was your mom's wedding? how's your dad doing? how was your birthday? what's your new address? See why I've been trying to call - so many questions! Life is pretty crazy for me right now. Business is busy, which is awesome, but tiring. I'd just like a day off once in awhile, but gotta pay the bills! I actually am done with weddings for now also. Until January at least. Unless someone books last minute. Which is always a possibility. I did a wedding last night and then I did a wedding show all day today. It was my first wedding show - you know- I display my work and the brides-to-be come flowing in and ooh and aahh over my work. Kind of a nice feeling. I'm sure I'll get some jobs from it, so that's cool, but it was a loooooonnnnnnnnggggggggg weekend, that's for sure. I don't know if I've told you but I'm coaching volleyball for my sister Kelly's 7th grade team. It

akes up so much of my time, but I really enjoy it. It's great to get to spend so much time with my sister and have something we share together. The team is 4-2. I love my team. One of the girls, Liz, is this really great girl who you wouldn't pick out as being much of an athlete. But at the beginning of the season, I told her I wanted her to work on her overhand serve. During the first game, she was like "Can I Pllllleeeeeeaaaaasssssssssseeeeeeee serve underhand, Coach?" I was like, "No, I know you can serve overhand!" (smile) That next weekend, she went home and practiced her overhand serve, and since then she has been one of my best servers. The back story on this girl is that she lives with her dad and grandma. I guess her dad is an alcoholic or something, and her grandma watches tv all day. She only sees her mom once a year or so. So her parents rarely come to her games-well, her dad has been to one and that's it. One week, I ended up giving her a ride to two different games, so I got to talking to her a little more. That following week, I noticed that she was very attentive at practice and really enthusiastic. At the end of practice, she came up to me and gave me a hug. It was so sweet. I said to my sister on the way home "I think Liz really likes me" Kelly said "Teresa, I think everyone on the team really likes you!" (warm fuzzy) Anyway, I realized that I am really this girl's only young female role model. The rest of the girls get so much support from their parents. Liz always has to walk to practice and find her own ride home. I give that girl a lot of credit. She's one of those girls that you could see getting pregnant at 15 or something, because she just wants to feel loved. I think I'm impacting her life in my own way. Anyway, that's my little story about why I love coaching. It fills my heart. I'm pretty annoyed at the roommate. The guy is a pig and I can't stand to be around him most days. Luckily, we don't see much of each other. The man situation is pretty lame. Nothing much going on there. Although Ryan stopped by last night because he and Scott were going out and he was checking me out (oh, I know when he's checking me out, but I didn't mention it to him). Anyway, it gets me thinking - how was it that this guy held my interest for so long and I allowed myself to love him so much and nothing else has come up since then? It's strange, but that's my life. Not like I'm wanting to get back together with him, but I would like to feel that way about someone again. I'm going out with Hooch and Kate and anybody else this weekend. it was their birthday's last week. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. It's a pain to drive up to GB when I'm there every day, then I come home for volleyball practice or games or whatever, the last thing I want to do is do more driving! But everyone's busy anyway. Amanda is like 6 months pregnant I guess. I bet she looks cute. Other than that, not much new with anyone there. I think the last time I saw Abby was when you were in town in July. She's busy with her man of course. Hope all's well with you and I'd love to hear all about your life! One more thing: I have a website now. Check out www.teresaphoto.com! It's very exciting! Love, T

Hi Corinna, Yes, I certainly can do pregnancy photos, and congratulations! These can be very special portraits and I usually recommend black and white. You could also do photos of your daughter alone if you'd like. Are you thinking you'd like to schedule an appointment on a Saturday or during the week? My schedule is flexible. You'd also be able to get these before Christmas, if you're interested in cards or gifts. Thanks for your email! Teresa

thanks for the great feedback and ideas. Yes I do want to get to one of your games yet. Thanks for the invite.

I am pasting a email sent about two weeks ago to someone else on the subject of girls BB. I appreciate your involvement and ideas. Please continue and thank you on behalf of all at SJSH.

Thanks for your ideas. Unfortunately BB is not a ways off for the league. The planning is over from the team perspective. League deadlines were 2 weeks ago. It was decided by Mr. Sievert, Tracy Hemeauer and I to have one

h grade girls team comprised of the 7th and 8th graders. We did not have enough 8th grade girls to form a team (5 signed-up). We had 8 7th grade girls sign-up.
THAT DOESN'T MEAN ALL WILL PLAY OR TURN IN THE NECESSARY PAPERWORK. I HOPE THEY ALL DO.

After last year doing shuffling with a boys teams and hearing complaints from parents, coaches and then having a student not show up on the game night they were assigned to play on the other team and having to get a diocese exception to a league rule, it was decided not to do that again.

I ADMIT THERE IS NOT A PERFECT SOLUTION. THE PERFECT SOLUTION IS TO HAVE 3 MORE 8TH GRADE GIRLS. There is no perfect plan and we will never make everyone happy.

In addition, we still do not have enough coaches who have even verbally committed to coaching the teams we have needs for - I have no interest in adding more teams when I don't have coaches for the ones I have. I very much appreciate the assistance of Charlie and I know the head coach will to. Tentatively, it looks like Eric Bornemann will be coaching the 8 th grade team and have the assistance of Charlie and John Zitelberger. Thank you for your assistance and ideas. It is very difficult to balance all the objectives and goals of everyone. Many times the ideas of people conflict but we need to be a team.

As far as who is coaching I have received one coaches' agreement back at this time - Dean and Tracy Heamuer. Others have expressed a verbal interest but have not completed the necessary paperwork yet.

As far as your questions/comments about Dale Marx. Thank you for the compliments. I agree he should do a great job. He will be coaching 7th grade boys comprised of 4 7th graders and 8 6th graders. A VERY SIMILAR SITUATION TO THE 8TH GRADE GIRLS TEAM. Creating a rotation in a girls team would likely lead to calls for a rotation in the boys team. Then we would have twice as many problems as last year when we did that. We have made these decision always remembering some students who signed up may not be playing for personal reasons, family trips, or grades and we have our pool of coaches nearly

up.

Thanks again for the email. Please feel free to forward this email to anyone else. It often happens a week later I get the same thoughts from someone else. You have my permission to forward it to anyone. I included a copy to Mr. Sievert and Tracy Hemauer so as to help keep everyone compromised of feedback.

Ideas, questions, and concerns always welcome.

The above is 2 weeks old or so.

Thanks

Hi Steve,

Tuesday night 7th grade won, 8th grade lost, and I'm pretty sure sixth grade won...but I'll double check that and get back to you after the game tomorrow.

> I actually called you tonight but I told your wife I'd email instead. I just had a couple things...

> First of all, I love coaching and I can say with as much confidence as I can at this point that I'd love to coach these girls in 8th grade next year!

> Second, my understanding is that Dale Marx wants to coach girls' basketball, but for whatever reason I hear "they" might not let him. (not sure who "they" refers to!) Anyhow, just wanted to let you know that I wouldn't mind being an assistant coach for basketball for my sister's team. I'm not as confident in the sport of basketball, but I feel that I could help out in more of a "moral support" role. Just a thought - if there's enough interest, it's not something I'd fight for or anything! I'd love to help out if I could.

> The girls don't seem very happy with the idea of having a combined 7th-8th grade basketball team. Again, I'm not sure where all this comes from, and I realize that nothing is set in stone yet. Of course, 13 year-olds don't always know what's best for them! I guess I'm curious as to what the situation is and if there's any input I can give you to help.

> If you have a free night on one of our game nights, I think you'd really enjoy watching our girls play! All three teams are very talented. I'm getting so much positive feedback from parents(knock on wood).

A few aren't due for a few months - but I'm sure it wouldn't hurt to send them some info now. If I think of more, I will certainly send them to you.

Hey all,

Just a quick note to say France is great!! The food is wonderful and the wine is amazing!! I visited many cool sights and museums and did a lot of shopping too! We are pretty much done in Lyon and Vienne...next, on to Paris!! We will be taking the train (186 mph) which takes about 2 hours. Most of the people here are great...I have met many Frenchmen, some Italians, a Scotsman, a couple from Finland...very eclectic group...and my limited French learning is coming in quite handy!! Wish you could all be here...this is amazing! See you soon...if I decide to come home.

Don't reply to this bc I won't have time to check it again!

*This may sound nuts, but Dennis got this the other day and sent it off.
About 10 minutes later a really good financial windfall happened for his son Sean who he had sent it too as well.*

One of the people he sent it to was responsible for the windfall.

AN IRISH FRIENDSHIP WISH You had better send this back!!!!

Good Luck!!

I hope it works...

*May there always be work for your hands to do;
May your purse always hold a coin or two;
May the sun always shine on your windowpane;
May a rainbow be certain to follow each rain;
May the hand of a friend always be near you;
May God fill your heart with gladness to cheer you.*

OK, this is what you have to do....

Send this to all of your friends! But - you HAVE to send

's within 1 hour from when you open it!

Now.....Make A wish!!!!!!

I hope you made your wish! Now then, if you send to:

1 person --- your wish will be granted in 1 year

3 people --- 6 months

5 people --- 3 months

6 people --- 1 month

7 people --- 2 weeks

8 people --- 1 week

9 people --- 5 days

10 people --- 3 day

Hi Teresa! I was wondering if it was possible to still order a reprint from the pictures you took of my girls this summer. If it is possible, I would like a 5X7 of picture 1-24 - it is a picture of the two girls together with Meagan touching the tree. Grandpa wants a picture for his office!! If you could e-mail be back and let me know I would appreciate it.
Thank you!! Debbie Rapp 465-3735

Teresa,
Thats a bummer that you are booked. I was looking forward to working with you. Yeah, It would be really helpful if you could refer me to another photographer. If you think they are good, im sure that i will like them to. Thanks a lot Teresa.

Hi Sara! I remember you from Ryan and Heidi's wedding. I'm glad you liked the photos! I very much enjoyed doing their wedding. I am so bummed to tell you that I am already booked on 6/17/06! Let me know if you need help finding a photographer. I sometimes book other photographers for a wedding to shoot for me when I am booked. Thanks and Best Wishes! Teresa

Hi Teresa! I was wondering if it was possible to still order a reprint from the pictures you took of my girls this summer. If possible, I would like a 5X7 of picture 1-24 - it is a picture of the two girls together with Meagan touching the tree. Grandpa wants a picture for his office!! Hi Anonymous,
You are under no obligation to tell your management that you are looking.
You will need to determine how to answer the question "why are you looking for a new job" as I'm sure it will be asked. Think carefully how you answer
that question since the positions are similar.
you may want to discuss with your manager about your disastifiers in your current position to see if anything can be improved.
Good luck.

Subject: Competing Against an Internal Candidate

From: arnica55105@yahoo.com [\[/ym/Compose?To=arnica55105@yahoo.com&YY=81257&order=down&sor...\]](#)

I have been going through an extensive interview process for a management position with a new company. The pool has been narrowed down to one internal candidate and myself. This person has been with the company for a number of years and is well regarded. If I get the job, this person would report to me. During a one-on-one interview with the hiring manager, he asked me how I would handle the situation i.e., if I got the job and she did not. I was a bit thrown off by the question because I think it really boils down to who

the most qualified candidate. Turns out he's concerned she'll leave she doesn't get the promotion (As a side note, does that justify promoting a person to a management position he/she may not be qualified for?). At any rate, it's an interesting conundrum that I'm sure many managers have faced that I have not i.e., having direct reports that competed against you for your position. In short, I responded to the question by stating that as her manager, I would be supportive of her endeavors to further develop her leadership skills for possible future promotions. This could include professional development training, providing her with leadership opportunities, coaching, mentoring, etc. I would like to hear feedback from others as to how you would have responded to the question. Any thoughts?

Subject: Bill's reply to...How to become a business owner?

From: wsryno@new.rr.com [\[/ym/Compose?To=wsryno@new.rr.com&YY=81257&order=down&sort=da...\]](#)

Jani,

Different kinds of businesses require different kinds of research and planning. Here are two examples of what I mean:

(1) If you become involved in a multilevel marketing organization like Pre-Paid Legal or Usborne or Pampered Chef or any of the others, you won't need government grants because you won't need startup capital. What you'll need is good support and training from the person who hires you, a good "warm market" (friends, family, neighbors, people who trust you), and a lot of patience and time. And you'll also need to learn how to develop your referral markets. These things won't be taught at E-seed or Urban Hope

any similar program.

) If you are looking to open a more traditional business, something like a Hair Salon for example, then you will probably benefit from E-Seed or Urban Hope or similar programs. These programs will help you understand the fundamentals of traditional business operation from developing the marketing plan, to investigating the competition, to payroll and tax issues. But remember that these programs cannot possibly teach you all of the details necessary to run a successful business. To run a successful traditional business you'll need a mentor, a good tax and financial advisor, and probably an attorney. I've been self-employed for about 15 years and have operated a manufacturing business, a consulting business, and a financial services business. Each has required different startup capital, different marketing approaches, different customer service issues, and so on. I would encourage you to first figure out what type of business you want to operate, secure a mentor, and then follow the path necessary to build a successful business. Above all, for a startup business to be successful, it will require LOTS of time and LOTS of sacrifice. I would be happy to talk with you further if you want; my cell number is below.

Important Information from GoDaddy.com

Dear Valued Go Daddy Customer, Order #: 28995630
Customer #: 6564492

Thank you for choosing Go Daddy as your Web hosting provider! This email message provides instructions for uploading your Web site to your hosting account.

While your hosting account is now active, it typically can take between 24-48 hours before your hosting account is ready for you to upload your Web site.

FTP Account Information

Each hosting account comes with an FTP account and personal FTP site for your use. Your FTP site is basically a directory (folder) on our Web Server where your Web pages reside. When people visit your site, they are viewing the Web pages stored in your FTP directory. To transfer files to your FTP directory, you will need the following account information. Please note that the Hosting/FTP user name and password provided here are NOT the same as your customer account user name and password.

Hosting/FTP User Name: teresa22
Hosting/FTP Password: t0322
Web Site URL: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
FTP Site URL: <ftp://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
Your Web Site Visitor Statistics: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM/stats>

All transfers are done by uploading the files to your hosting account. We suggest either of the following two methods of transferring files:

Microsoft Internet Explorer

File Transfer Protocol (FTP) Utility - WS_FTP Using Internet Explorer

Internet Explorer allows you to transfer files directly to your FTP site without requiring an FTP utility.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/IE/ie.htm>

Open Windows Explorer to the folder that contains your Web site pages. Leave open as you will come back to this window. Establish an Internet connection, and then open Internet Explorer. In the Internet Explorer Address Bar, type your FTP Site address: "ftp://", followed by your domain name; for example, "ftp://www.namegoeshere.com". In the Log On As dialog box, enter your FTP user name and password, and then click Log On. If an FTP Folder Error dialog box appears, click OK, and then click Login As in the File menu to open the Log On As dialog box. Select the files to transfer in Windows Explorer and drag them to your FTP directory in Internet Explorer. You can also copy and paste the necessary files. Using WS_FTP File Transfer Protocol Utility

WS_FTP offers a full range of file transfer features that let you transfer files directly to your FTP directory.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/WSFTP/wsftp.htm>

Establish an Internet connection, and then open WS_FTP and click Connect. In the Session Properties dialog box, click New. Complete your profile. In the Profile Name text box, enter a profile name, for example My Profile; in the Host Name/Address text box, type your domain name (without the www.), for example godaddy.com; ignore the Host Type text box; in the User ID and Password text boxes, enter your FTP user name and password. Click OK. In the WS_FTP window, navigate to your Web site files in the Local System pane on the left side of the window. Double-click the file to transfer or select multiple files and click the transfer arrow located between the Local System and Remote Site panes. Click Exit and close the program. Assigning Domain Name Server Information

If your domain was registered by Go Daddy, we will automatically update your account information. However, if your domain is registered with another company, you will have to go to your domain registration account and assign the domain name servers (DNS) for your new hosting account. DNS information is used to identify your Web site on the Internet.

Primary DNS Host: WSC1.JOMAX.NET

Primary DNS IP: 64.202.165.4

Secondary DNS Host: WSC2.JOMAX.NET

Secondary DNS IP: 64.202.167.50 SSL Certificate

Secure your visitors and customers data and transactions with an affordable, up to 256-bit encryption SSL Certificate. Learn more

Monday, October 03, 2005 9:49 AM Subject: The Story of the Tea Cup

I love this story! Hope you are all having a happy Monday! Gretchen The Story of the Tea Cup There was a couple who went to England to shop in a beautiful antique store. They both liked antiques and pottery, and especially tea cups. On a trip to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary they found an exceptional cup. They asked "May we see that cup? We've never seen a tea cup quite so beautiful." As the lady handed it to them, suddenly the tea cup spoke, "You don't understand." the cup said, "I have not always been a tea cup. There was a time when I was just a lump of red clay. My master took me and rolled me, pounded and patted me over and over, and I yelled out, 'Don't do that. I don't like it! Let me alone,' but the potter only smiled, and gently said, "Not yet!!" "Then, WHAM! I was placed on a spinning wheel and suddenly I was spun around and around and around. 'Stop it! I'm getting so dizzy! I'm going to be sick!' I screamed. But the master only nodded and said, quietly, "Not yet." He spun me and poked and prodded and bent me out of shape to suit himself and then... "Then he put me in the oven. I never felt such heat. I yelled and knocked and pounded at the door. Help! Get me out of here! I could see him through the opening and I could read his lips as he shook his head from side to side, "Not yet." When I thought I couldn't bear it another minute, the door opened. He carefully took me out and put me on the shelf, and I began to cool. "Oh, that felt so good! 'Ah, this is much better,' I thought. But, after I cooled, he picked me up and he brushed and painted me all over. The fumes were horrible. I thought I would gag. 'Oh, please; Stop it, Stop it!!' I cried. He only shook his head and said. "Not yet!". Then suddenly he put me back in to the oven. Only it was not like the first one. This was twice as hot and I just knew I would suffocate. I begged. I pleaded. I screamed. I cried. I was convinced I would never make it. I was ready to give up. Just then the door opened and he took me out and again placed me on the shelf, where I cooled and waited... and waited, wondering what's he going to do to me next? An hour later he handed me a mirror and said "Look at yourself." "And I did. I said, 'That's not me; That can't be me. It's beautiful... "I'm beautiful!" Quietly he spoke: "I want you to remember, then," he said, "I know it hurt to be rolled and patted, but had I just left you alone, you'd have dried up." "I know it made you dizzy to spin around on the wheel, but if I had stopped, you would have crumbled." "I know it hurt and it was hot and disagreeable in the oven, but if I hadn't put you there, you would have cracked." "I know the fumes were bad when I brushed and painted you all over, but if I hadn't done that, you never would have hardened. You would not have had any color in your life. If I hadn't put you back in that second oven, you wouldn't have survived for long because the hardness would not have held. Now you are a finished product. Now you are what I had in mind when I first began with you." The moral of this story is this: God knows what He's doing in each of us. He is the potter, and we are His clay. He will mold us and make us, and expose us to just enough pressures of just the right kinds that we may be made into a flawless piece of work to fulfill His good, pleasing and perfect will. So when life seems hard, and you are being pounded and patted and pushed almost beyond endurance; when your world seems to be spinning out of control; when you feel like you are in a fiery furnace of trials; when life seems to "stink", try this... Brew a cup of your favorite tea in your prettiest tea cup, sit down and think on this story and then... Have a little talk with the Potter.

This is a great idea for all of us as well as our child. In case of emergency ICE

Paramedics will turn to a victim's cell phone for clues to that person's identity. You can make their job much easier with a simple idea that they are trying to get everyone to adopt: ICE.

ICE stands for In Case of Emergency. If you add an entry in the contacts list in your cell phone under ICE, with the name and phone no. of the person that the emergency services should call on your behalf, you can save them a lot of time and have your loved ones contacted quickly. It only takes a few moments of your time to do.

Paramedics know what ICE means and they look for it immediately. ICE your cell phone NOW!

Please pass this one along!

First I would contact SCORE...they should be in the phone book. They are a non-for profit organization that helps you put together a business plan, etc. Before anything else you need to decide what small business you want to open up. Make sure there's a market for it. If you have more questions feel free to email me at usborne@new.rr.com [/ym/Compose?To=usborne@new.rr.com&YY=40985&order=down&sort=d...] .

Subject: Seeking Advice on Changing Jobs

From: Anonymous

Hello - I'm seeking advice on the protocol to follow when looking for a new job. I have been out of college for 5 years and working for the same company. I have held two positions at my current company, but recently have been less and less satisfied with my job. I found a position listing with a competing company in the area that is nearly identical to what I am currently doing (This is good, since I enjoy what my position is and can be, it is just the atmosphere in my current position that is making it less than satisfying). The problem is that I have not told my management that I am not happy or exploring new options. I would like to apply for this new position, but I am not sure what the right way to go about it is. Should I disclose this to my manager? I am concerned if I mention I am looking elsewhere it will negatively impact my day to day work, especially if I am not offered or did not want to take the new position. Also, if I do not tell my management, how do I handle that in an interview for the new position?

Thanks so much for the advice!

Subject: Diana's reply to...How to start a business

From: Schultz.Diana@co.calumet.wi.us [/ym/Compose?To=Schultz.Diana@co.calumet.wi.us&YY=40985&order...]

Hi Jani:

I get asked this question quite a bit. If you live in the Fox Cities area there are very many resources to tap to start a business; however, there are very few grants that are actually distributed to business. Grants are generally made to local government and non-profits, so that programs to the general public can be implemented. Commerce usually only makes grants to communities to either start up revolving loan funds or to make improvements to sewer, water, or road utilities. In other cases where grants are distributed to business it is usually targeted at research and development types of companies (technology and medicine related companies or in Wisconsin at the dairy farming and cheese processors through the Grow Wisconsin Dairy Program).

In fact the only grants in Wisconsin that are issued to small business owners are to attend an entrepreneurial training class. The grant program I am referring to is called the Entrepreneurial Training Grant Program (ETGP).

This grant program requires a 25% match from the applicant and the applicant has to be a targeted cluster. A targeted cluster are those that state wants growth in.

There are however, a few microloan programs through such organizations as

Wisconsin Women's Business Initiative Corporation. There are also revolving loan program in many communities and counties throughout Northeast Wisconsin

(7 of them) that are there to fund small businesses in their communities.

You have to create full time employment for yourself and usually one other person and have to have a $1 to $1 match either through your own money or a personal loan through the bank to ive

 access to these revolving loan funds. One of my local RLFs loaned $5,000 to a small business in their downtown. The 4% interest low interest loan has to be used for equipment or working capital and requires the business owner to expend their money first and get reimbursed for the cost.
 Another way to start a business is by bootstrapping it. I attended a seminar last week in Milwaukee put on by We Energies that talked about starting a business with almost no money and the importance of sales.
 Greg Giantiforre is the author of Bootstrapping Your Business: Start and Grow a Successful Business With Almost No Money. (<http://www.bootstrapit.com/> [<http://www.bootstrapit.com/>])

great read in my opinion.
 The Home Based Business Association is also a great memberbased organization for networking opportunities. Their website is:
<http://www.hbba-wi.org/> [<http://www.hbba-wi.org/>] .
 The publication I am referring you to has the contact information for ETGP
 and basic information on how to start a business. It's about 15 pages long and full of information. It is this link:

Hello Jani,

There are a lot of resources out there for you when getting started. I would definitely recommend either the Pre-Seed or E-Seed class through the

Fox Valley Technical College. I recently went through the E-Seed class and found it to be very worthwhile!!!

Pre-Seed is four, three-hour sessions that will show you how to assess current industry, economic, social, competitive and political climate for your potential venture. It will help you determine if this business venture something you can & should do!

E-Seed is a 12-week entrepreneurship training series. It assists start up and early-stage entrepreneurs in developing management and planning tools for their new business ventures. Participants develop a first draft of their business plan through completion of weekly worksheets and exercises. For more information on these, go to www.fvtc.edu/e-seed

Good luck & please keep FoxWIT updated on how it goes!

From: murzello@prepaidlegal.com [/ym/Compose?To=murzello@prepaidlegal.com&YY=40985&order=down...]

Jani,

Here is a proven method to become a successful business owner. It is an opportunity from a 30-year-old New York Stock Exchange company, Pre Paid

Legal Services. They are committed to your success. It is flexible and rewarding. The fee to get in is as low as $49. Please check out the business opportunity at www.prepaidlegal.com/hub/murzello

They were the lead story in the Success at Home magazine. The article also featured how single parents had become successful. I can mail one to you if you would like.

Dean

Hello everyone! Great meeting last week! It was great to see some visitors and to have an open forum with a topic that everyone can contribute to. I am in the process of updating the Current BMG Members List. If any of your contact info has changed, please get the updated info to me. Bradley C at Dr. Music DJ Service will not be joining the group as he has accepted a full-time day job in addition to his DJ business. Remember to keep inviting visitors! Please notice that Chad's email is ht530@hometeaminspection.com, as I previously listed incorrectly! A few of you asked for some numbers regarding referrals passed. I hope you find this helpful: A total of 37 referrals have been passed from 7/27/05 to 8/24/05. I have record of 9 of those referrals being closed for a total of $11,369. I believe there have been some referrals passed that I do not have the yellow copies for. Please bring them on Wednesday and also let me know of any other referrals closed. Andrea Dalebroux of The Benefit Companies will be our 10 min speaker this week. Be sure to bring plenty of biz cards to put in our members' box. We will again be meeting at Perkins on Oneida. Thanks and see you all Wednesday!

Important Information from GoDaddy.com

Dear Valued Go Daddy Customer, Order #: 28995630
Customer #: 6564492

Thank you for choosing Go Daddy as your Web hosting provider! This email message provides instructions for uploading your Web site to your hosting account.

While your hosting account is now active, it typically can take between 24-48 hours before your hosting account is ready for you to upload your Web site.

If you have any problems or questions about these hosting instructions, please consult our Frequently Asked Questions: https://www.godaddy.com/gdshop/faq/howto_guide.asp?prog_id=GoDaddy370#WebHosting

FTP Account Information

Each hosting account comes with an FTP account and personal FTP site for your use. Your FTP site is basically a directory (folder) on our Web Server where your Web pages reside. When people visit your site, they are viewing the Web pages stored in your FTP directory. To transfer files to your FTP directory, you will need the following account information. Please note that the Hosting/FTP user name and password provided here are NOT the same as your customer account user name and password.

Hosting/FTP User Name: teresa22
Hosting/FTP Password: t0322
Web Site URL: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
FTP Site URL: <ftp://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
Your Web Site Visitor Statistics: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM/stats>

All transfers are done by uploading the files to your hosting account. We suggest either of the following two methods of transferring files:

Microsoft Internet Explorer

File Transfer Protocol (FTP) Utility - WS_FTP Using Internet Explorer

Internet Explorer allows you to transfer files directly to your FTP site without requiring an FTP utility.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/IE/ie.htm>

Open Windows Explorer to the folder that contains your Web site pages. Leave open as you will come back to this window. Establish an Internet connection, and then open Internet Explorer. In the Internet Explorer Address Bar, type your FTP Site address: "ftp://", followed by your domain name; for example, "ftp://www.namegoeshere.com". In the Log On As dialog box, enter your FTP user name and password, and then click Log On. If an FTP Folder Error dialog box appears, click OK, and then click Login As in the File menu to open the Log On As dialog box. Select the files to transfer in Windows Explorer and drag them to your FTP directory in Internet Explorer. You can also copy and paste the necessary files. Using WS_FTP File Transfer Protocol Utility

WS_FTP offers a full range of file transfer features that let you transfer files directly to your FTP directory.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/WSFTP/wsftp.htm>

Establish an Internet connection, and then open WS_FTP and click Connect. In the Session Properties dialog box, click New. Complete your profile. In the Profile Name text box, enter a profile name, for example My Profile; in the Host Name/Address text box, type your domain name (without the www.), for example godaddy.com; ignore the Host Type text box; in the User ID and Password text boxes, enter your FTP user name and password. Click OK. In the WS_FTP window, navigate to your Web site files in the Local System pane on the left side of the window. Double-click the file to transfer or select multiple files and click the transfer arrow located between the Local System and Remote Site panes. Click Exit and close the program. Assigning Domain Name Server Information

If your domain was registered by Go Daddy, we will automatically update your account information. However, if your domain is registered with another company, you will have to go to your domain registration account and assign the domain name servers (DNS) for your new hosting account. DNS information is used to identify your Web site on the Internet.

Primary DNS Host: WSC1.JOMAX.NET

Primary DNS IP: 64.202.165.4

Secondary DNS Host: WSC2.JOMAX.NET

Secondary DNS IP: 64.202.167.50 SSL Certificate

Secure your visitors and customers data and transactions with an affordable, up to 256-bit encryption SSL Certificate. Learn more

Thank you. Looking for a weekday. Would any of the special pricing apply for this? And I do just want some shots of the two of us. I will be coming back again I'm sure. And what would you recommend that I wear? Button down shirt would be fine I assume? Thankful my daughter is tall enough to reach my belly! Thanks Corinna Kovars ----- Original Message -----

Hi Corinna, Yes, I certainly can do pregnancy photos, and congratulations! These can be very special portraits and I usually recommend black and white. You could also do photos of your daughter alone if you'd like. Are you thinking you'd like to schedule an appointment on a Saturday or during the week? My schedule is flexible. You'd also be able to get these before Christmas, if you're interested in cards or gifts. Thanks for your email! Teresa

Hi Teresa! I was wondering if it was possible to still order a reprint from the pictures you took of my girls this summer. If it is possible, I would like a 5X7 of picture 1-24 - it is a picture of the two girls together with Meagan touching the tree. Grandpa wants a picture for his office!! If you could e-mail be back and let me know I would appreciate it.

Liz Ryan joins Board of Distinguished Judges & Advisors of the Stevie Awards for Women Entrepreneurs. That's right; the call for nominations for the 2005 Stevie Awards has been issued! The competition is open to all women entrepreneurs and women executives worldwide. October 31 is the entry deadline and there are many categories to choose from including Best Entrepreneur, Best Executive, Best Young Entrepreneur, Best New Company, and many more. You may recall that WorldWIT was honored with the 2004 Woman's Business Association of the Year Stevie award. In short order the Stevie has become one of the world's most coveted awards. The New York Post called the Stevies "the business world's own Oscar Awards." Learn more at <http://www.stevieawards.com/awards3> [http://www.stevieawards.com/awards3] .

I bought a 3 ring binder and some page protectors to save some but realize this will become full very quickly. Thanks, Rick, Yes, we very much appreciate any info you can give us with the ribbon cutting and any other community events. I also looked at the Current group stuff, maybe I'll think about it in a month or so when things slow down for me. So thanks for that info as well. After you left the meeting, we talked about advertising for new members of the group and we agreed that we would again meet at Dano's next week (10/5) Have a great week! Teresa

Subject: Melody's reply to...Seeking recos for preserving child's art

From: oesllc@yahoo.com [/ym/Compose?To=oesllc@yahoo.com&YY=26974&order=down&sort=dat...]

Hi Shelly,
I'm a professional organizer and even though my twins aren't old enough to be in pre-school yet, I can tell you I've worked with many parents on this issue. There are several different systems that work. It all depends on preference. One of them are to have either a under-the-bed container, or approx. 66 qt. container. Put all of his artwork in these. At the end of the school year, go through the artwork with him. (Since he is not old enough yet. Either make the decision for him or wait till he's old enough.) That will give him the experience and control of deciding what to keep and what to throw away. Should you decide to keep it in the container that you chose, you can then keep the artwork seperated by large pieces of construction paper with the grade/year on it. If they are small enough, you can transfer then to a banker box, or make a scrap book out of them. To keep artwork from taking over your home, hang a piece of colorful yarn or string in your child's room like a clothesline. Attach artwork with colorful plastic clothespins. You can also use it as wrapping paper for special gifts to parents, grandparents and other relatives or frame some of the artwork. Hope this helps. Let me know if you have any other questions.

Hello,

As an IT literate group, I am hopeful that I can get some input from the LIST about a company and/or the products sold by them.

The Company is Who's Calling, (<http://www.whoscalling.com> [http://www.whoscalling.com]), based in Kirkland, WA with offices in Irvine, CA, Edina, MN and Horsham, PA.

Does anyone have personal or professional experience working with or for them, or with the use of their CRM and Call Center based software products?

You can respond either via this list or to me privately - I need info ASAP, as I am considering working with them and want to get more than the "published" or online due diligence background info that I have so far.

Thanking you all in advance,

Subject: Nancy & Marty's Introductions

From: nancy@adventurebanners.com [/ym/Compose?To=nancy@adventurebanners.com&YY=26974&order=dow...]

Greetings FoxWIT,

We've enjoyed reading all the introductions and have been FoxWIT members

since June.

Marty and I moved to Wisconsin 5 years ago and we live in the

Appleton/Grand

Chute area with our two children, Andy (10) and Gracelyn (7). Before

oving
Wisconsin from Huntington Beach, California, we went after a dream which was to spend a FULL year traveling in our RV. It was a good time to do it because our children had no school, sports or social life. Plus they couldn't read the signs, so we got to go wherever and skipped all the amusement parks and McDonalds. We spent most of our time and money at National and State Parks covering three corners and everything in between - San Diego, Fairbanks, Alaska and Key West Florida. The next big trip is the Northeast. We kind of got a very late start on raising a family, but we have had so much fun with Andy and Gracelyn.
What a treat it is to be with them even though they work us hard. They will certainly keep us young and in shape in the next ten years.
Marty has been a General Contractor, Mechanical Engineer and Professional Handyman for the last 25 years. One of his favorite things for his handyman business is teamwork projects. For example, Marty can help you (guy or gal)
for a project that you want to start or finish, but maybe need some help learning how to do it (like tile work or plumbing), need the right tools for the job or just someone to help push the project to get it done. He just finished a project with Toni Carlson's dad putting up drywall and painting in his cabin up North. This past summer Marty spent 3 months remodeling a house in Huntington Beach, CA, so he does travel and takes the RV to stay in while he is working. Of course, he also does one hour projects too! If you want to reach Marty, you can call on his cell phone at 920-475-9401 or send an email to me or martyrezmer@tds.net

We also have another business inspired by our children that we started on January 1st, 2005 at 12:01 called Adventure Banners LLC. I went through the E-Seed Program at FVTC last fall, met lots of great people and put a business plan together for my pin and badge banners. I designed the products locally and had them made in China using environmental materials.
My products aren't flying off the shelves at the parks yet, but I am getting reorders from the Grand Canyon, Zion, and some East Coast parks.
It's been a humble start, yet I get so excited when I think about the possibilities. I have a huge learning curve ahead!
Well, enough advertising about our businesses. Marty always has his base in an aviation magazine and has built and flown sport airplanes and gliders.
You can catch me at the swimming pool doing my laps, on a bicycle or with my

w SLR digital camera that I'm trying to figure out.
also serve on the board for the Northeast Wisconsin American Society for Training and Development or www.newastd.org I spent many years as a corporate trainer and another ten years in my own massage therapy business.
I seem to be on a ten year cycle for changing careers and am constantly trying to figure out how to make a living, raise children and be happy.
It seems to be a common theme for many of us.
Fall Blessings to all of you!

DEDICATED HOSTING IP

Having a dedicated IP (Internet Protocol) means each Web hosting account has a unique address, not shared by any other accounts on the same server.

To apply a Dedicated Hosting IP to your account: Select "Settings" for the hosting account you want to modify. In the "Dedicated Hosting IP" section, click "Install Dedicated Hosting IP." If you do not have available credits, you can click the "Add a Dedicated Hosting IP to this account" link, or go to the Web Site Hosting section of our site. Select the Dedicated Hosting IP credit you want to use. Click "Yes" to install the Dedicated Hosting IP.

While the Dedicated Hosting IP is being applied, it is important that you do not modify the contents of your Web site. Because the account is being moved to a dedicated IP address, we will be modifying the DNS for your site. The DNS change may take from 4-8 hours for .COM and .NET domains and from 24-48 hours for all other domain extensions. While DNS is updating, your site will still be reachable.

BACK TO TOP [#top]

Select the type of SSL Certificate you would like to set up and the number of years you would like the SSL Certificate to be valid. Note: Only the options for which you have available credits will display. Next, indicate whether the domain you are requesting the certificate for is hosted with GoDaddy.com or with a third-party hosting provider. Note that if your domain is hosted with GoDaddy.com, we will generate and submit your Certificate Signing Request (CSR) to the Certificate Authority and install the signed certificate on your site once issued. If you are hosting elsewhere, you must perform those tasks yourself. Note: If you previously applied a Dedicated Hosting IP credit to the selected hosting account, a notice displays stating that the SSL Certificate includes a Dedicated Hosting IP so your current Dedicated Hosting IP credit will cancel and you will no longer be billed for that credit. This will not change the IP address of your hosting account. Finally, click "Set up Secure Certificate" to go to the certificate management page of the Certificate Authority's Web site to submit your request.

ear folks,

It is a funny thing, but one of the older columns on our website has made it into a kind of vortex where the link gets passed along from person to person, even though the column was written and posted to our site a couple of years ago. It's the one called "Something Toxic on the Ceiling," that talks about what makes mid-career and senior-level women leave the corporate world. Two or three times a week, someone asks us for the link to the story or writes to tell us that she read and enjoyed it. So we wanted to share that column for those of you who missed it the first time. We would love your comments!

Have a great weekend,
Liz

Wow!
What a great question about competing for a job against an internal candidate. I think your answer was terrific - that if you got the job instead of the internal person, you'd support her professional development efforts. That was great. It is a reasonable question for the employer
to ask, because when someone inside the company vies for a job with an outsider and the outsider is hired (so that she becomes the internal person's boss) can be ugly. It's really, really important in that situation to ACKNOWLEDGE what has happened. The biggest insult to the also-ran candidate is to say nothing at all.

So you would meet with this person, early on (in your first week on the job) and say, "You know Sarah, I'm very glad to meet you and I've heard amazing things about you. I know it's got to be a disappointment to have gone through the interview process and not had that work out. My goal is to have you feel successful and valued on this team. I am going to work hard toward the goal of having you conclude that the second-best outcome to your bid for the promotion - in other words, having me come in as your boss - wasn't a bad outcome after all." She may glower. That's okay. It's still important to give her her props.

In other words, you want Sarah to know that you're not unaware of what she's just been through - and that you're not so obtuse that you wouldn't understand perfectly well how much she might resent your arrival and see you as the enemy. I wouldn't hold out a lot of hope that she'll throw her arms around you and say "Let's be best friends!" but that's okay, at least you're respecting the fact that she's feeling burned.

worked in a company where there were two peers, both very strong women, and through a fairly random re-org, one of them ended up reporting to the other. I happened to be in the room (as an observer) at the first meeting they had together as boss and subordinate, and it was horrifying. The new manager, who had been the other woman's peer just the day before, starting barking out orders and edicts to her new subordinate. Absolutely no acknowledgement of how the other woman must feel. That is heinously bad management. To eventually win over the internal candidate who didn't get the job that you got, you have to start with showing her that you appreciate her professionalism in the face of what must be a truly painful blow to her ego.

Good luck with the opportunity!
cheers,
Liz

Teresa,

The Bridal issue is coming out Oct 11th. This is our third of three issues we run each year in our magazine. We typically print 8-10 pages of editorial and advertising in our special sections. We have special section rates for these issues and I have listed those below along w/ our rate card.

In addition to this popular section, we are also featuring Deanna Farve on our cover for breast cancer awareness month. Last year we could hardly keep her on the shelves so we are running additional copies for our readers. Many readers fell in love with her last year as her story broke just around the same time our issue came out. This issue will talk about what she has gone through to overcome her illness.

Special section rates:

1x insertion - 6x rate off the rate card
2x insertion - 13x rate off the rate card
3x insertion - 26x rate off the rate card

Our spaced reservation is this Friday Sept 23rd and ad copy due early next week. Please feel free to give me a call with any questions you may have and to reserve your space.

To access your Web-based email, go to <http://email.godaddy.com/> and log in with your username (which is your email address, for example, yourname@yourdomainname.com) and password.

BACK TO TOP [#top]

In your Hosting Manager, select the domain name you want to use for your hosting account, create a User ID and Password, click "Continue," and click "Submit."

BACK TO TOP [#top]

DEDICATED HOSTING IP

Having a dedicated IP (Internet Protocol) means each Web hosting account has a unique address, not shared by any other accounts on the same server.

To apply a Dedicated Hosting IP to your account: Select "Settings" for the hosting account you want to modify. In the "Dedicated Hosting IP" section, click "Install Dedicated Hosting IP." If you do not have available credits, you can click the "Add a Dedicated Hosting IP to this account" link, or go to the Web Site Hosting section of our site. Select the Dedicated Hosting IP credit you want to use. Click "Yes" to install the Dedicated Hosting IP.

While the Dedicated Hosting IP is being applied, it is important that you do not modify the contents of your Web site. Because the account is being moved to a dedicated IP address, we will be modifying the DNS for your site. The DNS change may take from 4-8 hours for .COM and .NET domains and from 24-48 hours for all other domain extensions. While DNS is updating, your site will still be reachable.

BACK TO TOP [#top]

WEBSITE COMPLETE

To install WebSite Complete from a version you downloaded, double-click setup from the file you saved during the download process (file name will be similar to "wsc5de_setup.exe"). If you experience problems downloading the software, log in to "My Downloads" in your account and select the download icon next to WebSite Complete. To install WebSite Complete from the CD, insert the CD-ROM and installation should start automatically.

BACK TO TOP [#top]

WEBSITE TONIGHT

To set up the optional free email account you get with your WebSite Tonight hosting, select "Email Accounts" from the "Hosting and Email" menu. Click "Manage Free Accounts," and click "Set Up Account" next to the "Email Account - Free" listing in the Email Account list. Fill in the required information, making sure to select the domain name you entered for your WebSite Tonight account from the drop-down list, and click "Save Settings." Under the "Hosting section, select "Hosting Account List," then click on the name of the hosting account you want to upgrade. In the "Hosting Account details" section on the right, select "Apply Traffic Facts to This Account." Please allow 24-48 hours for the hosting account to update. QUICK SHOPPING CART

To begin building your online store, log in to the Account Manager and select "Quick Shopping Cart" from the "Web Sites" drop-down menu. In the Quick Shopping Cart application, select "Dedicated Domain" or "Sub-Domain," enter your domain name, and then click "Submit."

You can access the application from the Account Manager by selecting from the list of available Quick Shopping Cart accounts. To access the application without using the Account Manager, create a Site Administrator account, for yourself or others, in the Quick Shopping Cart by selecting "Add New Member" under the "Members" menu. Site administrators can then enter the site directly from the Web by clicking here.

SSL CERTIFICATES

To submit your SSL Certificate request, go to the "Manage Secure Certificates" page in the Account Manager and click "Set up Certificate" or "Set up Wildcard Certificate." Select the type of SSL Certificate you would like to set up and the number of years you would like the SSL Certificate to be valid. Note: Only the options for which you have available credits will display. Next, indicate whether the domain you are requesting the certificate for is hosted with GoDaddy.com or with a third-party hosting provider. Note that if your domain is hosted with GoDaddy.com, we will generate and submit your Certificate Signing Request (CSR) to the Certificate Authority and install the signed certificate on your site once issued. If you are hosting elsewhere, you must perform those tasks yourself. Note: If you previously applied a Dedicated Hosting IP credit to the selected hosting account, a notice displays stating that the SSL Certificate includes a Dedicated Hosting IP. If you have a Dedicated Hosting IP credit, your current Dedicated Hosting IP credit will cancel and you will no longer be billed for that credit. This will not change the IP address of your hosting account. Finally, click "Set up Secure Certificate" to go to the certificate management page of the Certificate Authority's Web site to submit your request.

Subject: Stevie Awards for Women Entrepreneurs Call For Entries

From: kristih@corp.worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=kristih@corp.worldwit.org&YY=23896&order=down...]

Liz Ryan joins Board of Distinguished Judges & Advisors of the Stevie Awards for Women Entrepreneurs. That's right; the call for nominations for the 2005 Stevie Awards has been issued! The competition is open to all women entrepreneurs and women executives worldwide. October 31 is the entry deadline and there are many categories to choose from including Best Entrepreneur, Best Executive, Best Young Entrepreneur, Best New Company, and many more. You may recall that WorldWIT was honored with the 2004 Woman's Business Association of the Year Stevie award. In short order the Stevie has become one of the world's most coveted awards. The New York Post called the Stevies "the business world's own Oscar Awards." Learn more at <http://www.stevieawards.com/awards3> [<http://www.stevieawards.com/awards3>]

Teresa,

The Bridal issue is coming out Oct 11th. This is our third of three issues we run each year in our magazine. We typically print 8-10 pages of editorial and advertising in our special sections. We have special section rates for these issues and I have listed those below along w/ our rate card.

In addition to this popular section, we are also featuring Deanna Farve on our cover for breast cancer awareness month. Last year we could hardly keep her on the shelves so we are running additional copies for our readers. Many readers fell in love with her last year as her story broke just around the same time our issue came out. This issue will talk about what she has gone through to overcome her illness.

Special section rates:

- 1x insertion - 6x rate off the rate card
- 2x insertion - 13x rate off the rate card
- 3x insertion - 26x rate off the rate card

Our spaced reservation is this Friday Sept 23rd and ad copy due early next week. Please feel free to give me a call with any questions you may have and to reserve your space.

Hello everyone! Great meeting last week! It was great to see some visitors and to have an open forum with a topic that everyone can contribute to. I am in the process of updating the Current BMG Members List. If any of your contact info has changed, please get the updated info to me. Bradley C at Dr. Music DJ Service will not be joining the group as he has accepted a full-time day job in addition to his DJ business. Remember to keep inviting visitors! Please notice that Chad's email is ht530@hometeaminspection.com, as I previously listed incorrectly! A few of you asked for some numbers regarding referrals passed. I hope you find this helpful: A total of 37 referrals have been passed from 7/27/05 to 8/24/05. I have record of 9 of those referrals being closed for a total of $11,369. I believe there have been some referrals passed that I do not have the yellow copies for. Please bring them on Wednesday and also let me know of any other referrals passed. Andrea Dalebroux of The Benefit Companies will be our 10 min speaker this week. Be sure to bring plenty of biz cards to put in our members' box. We will again be meeting at Perkins on Oneida. Thanks and see you all Wednesday!

Read this today and don't delete it if you are too busy!! You'll see.

THE BRICK

A young and successful executive was traveling down a neighborhood street, going a bit too fast in his new Jaguar. He was watching for kids darting out from between parked cars and slowed down when he thought he saw something. As his car passed, no children appeared. Instead, a brick smashed into the Jag's side door! He slammed on the brakes and backed the Jag back to the spot where the brick had been thrown. The angry driver then jumped out of the car, grabbed the nearest kid and pushed him up against a parked car shouting, "What was that all about and who are you? Just what the hell are you doing? That's a new car and that brick you threw is going to cost a lot of money. Why did you do it?" The young boy was apologetic. "Please, mister...please, I'm sorry but I didn't know what else to do," He pleaded. "I threw the brick because no one else would stop..." With tears dripping down his face and off his chin, the youth pointed to a spot just around a parked car. "It's my brother," he said "He rolled off the curb and fell out of his wheelchair and I can't lift him up."

Now sobbing, the boy asked the stunned executive, "Would you please help me get him back into his wheelchair? He's hurt and he's too heavy for me."

Moved beyond words, the driver tried to swallow the rapidly swelling lump in his throat. He hurriedly lifted the handicapped boy back into the wheelchair, then took out a linen handkerchief and dabbed at the fresh scrapes and cuts. A quick look told him everything was going to be okay. "Thank you and may God bless you," the grateful child told the stranger. Too shook up for words, the man simply watched the boy! push his wheelchair-bound brother down the sidewalk toward their home.

It was a long, slow walk back to the Jaguar. The damage was very noticeable, but the driver never bothered to repair the dented side door. He kept the dent there to remind him of this message: "Don't go through life so fast that someone has to throw a brick at you to get your attention!" God whispers in our souls and speaks to our hearts. Sometimes when we don't have time to listen, He has to throw a brick at us. It's our choice to listen or not.

Thought for the Day:

If God had a refrigerator, your picture would be on it.

If He had a wallet, your photo would be in it.

He sends you flowers every spring.

He sends you a sunrise every morning Face it, friend - He is crazy about you!

Send this to every "beautiful person" you wish to bless.

God didn't promise days without pain, laughter without sorrow, sun without rain, but He did promise strength for the day, comfort for the tears, and light for the way.

Read this line very slowly and let it sink in...

If God brings you to it, He will bring you through it.

Pass this message to seven people except you and me.

You will receive a miracle tomorrow (just do it)!

Teresa....It was nice meeting with you this morning. Looks like you have a good bunch (actually I already know Pam Vlies and Judy Keneklis, but did not know they were members). Regarding the form that you are putting together, a good prospect/lead for me is anyone/any company that is new to the area or any small to medium size company that is trying to grow their business thru networking (with the Chamber we have tons of networking opportunities). We also help businesses grow thru assistance we can give them (ie. SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), Urban Hope etc.). If a small business is looking for a one room (or more) office we can get them setup in our INCUBATOR (they share copy machines, conference rooms, staff, mail services etc. with other small businesses in one building. We have everything from a small office to warehouse space with loading docks etc.). For people that just want to give back to the community, we have a number of volunteer opportunities, like our GOLDEN APPLE AWARDS for teachers in Brown County, small business or EXPO committees etc. SO, perhaps I am giving you too much, but those are some of the kinds of people and businesses we assist and look for.....

Thank you,
Rick Steeber

Yay! For yummy chocolates! If you mailed them out yesterday, it should be fine. What address did you mail it to? Did you get good ones of me milking? Yah? I'm hoping that's what I can put in the "I." P.S. every time I hear fur elise on someone's stupid phone, I get upset on behalf of Beethoven. Poor man, spent his life creating phenomenal pieces for us to turn it into a commodity and play it on stupid sound bytes in a stupid cell phone. I hate songs on cell phones. They are stupid. Stupid. Stupid. All songs. Stupid. P.S.S. I hope you don't have a song on your cell phone P.S.S.S we have lots of cell phones in our office.....

I work for a small organization and the maternity leave policy in the employee handbook is very vague. I am looking for examples from other companies and organizations on their maternity leave policies- or even assistance from an attorney. I know what the law provides, but our office doesn't fall under FMLA. I would appreciate any help that you can give me!

Thanks!

Subject: HR-related Legal Question

From: Anonymous

I wanted to ask a general question to the group and see if anyone had any insight on how a HR issue could affect me. Does a former employee of a company have the ability to sue a particular employee? Or can they only sue the company as a whole? If an employee is let go and feels that it was due to the malicious intent of a particular person in the organization, can the employee sue that particular person, or can they only sue the company? If you could post your response to the group, I'd be very interested.

I'm hosting a small business event. Does anyone have advice on what to tip caterers? Do you tip or not? Does it depend on who is serving, owner of the catering company vs staff? I'd appreciate your experience as to whether expectations are the same 15-20% for catering as for table service in a restaurant.

Hi Cara, I have your order figured out - just one thing--did your grandma Harvey order a 5x7, and if so, what's the photo number? That's the only thing that didn't match up. I had all 4x5 (or 4x6) for her. If you could check on that for me and email back, then I'll send you everyone's totals. Hope you had a fun weekend! -Teresa

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg! Since I can't get a hold of you by phone, I thought I'd try an email! I'm curious as to how the new job is going, how life is in KC, how's Chris? how was your mom's wedding? how's your dad doing? how was your birthday? what's your new address? See why I've been trying to call - so many questions! Life is pretty crazy for me right now. Business is busy, which is awesome, but tiring. I'd just like a day off once in awhile, but gotta pay the bills! I actually am done with weddings for now also. Until January at least. Unless someone books last minute. Which is always a possibility. I did a wedding last night and then I did a wedding show all day today. It was my first wedding show - you know- I display my work and the brides-to-be come flowing in and ooh and aahh over my work. Kind of a nice feeling. I'm sure I'll get some jobs from it, so that's cool, but it was a loooooonnnnnnnngggggggg weekend, that's for sure. I don't know if I've told you but I'm coaching volleyball for my sister Kelly's 7th grade team. It takes up so much of my time, but I really enjoy it. It's great to get to spend so much time with my sister and have something we share together. The team is 4-2. I love my team. One of the girls, Liz, is this really great girl who you wouldn't pick out as being much of an athlete. But at the beginning of the season, I told her I wanted her to work on her overhand serve. During the first game, she was like "Can I Pllleeeeeeeaaaassssssssseeeeeeee serve underhand, Coach?" I was like, "No, I know you can serve overhand!" (smile) That next weekend, she went home and practiced her overhand serve, and since then she has been one of my best servers. The back story on this girl is that she lives with her dad and grandma. I guess her dad is an alcoholic or something, and her grandma watches tv all day. She only sees her mom once a year or so. So her parents rarely come to her games-well, her dad has been to one and that's it. One week, I ended up giving her a ride to two different games, so I got to talking to her a little more. That following week, I noticed that she was very attentive at practice and really enthusiastic. At the end of practice, she came up to me and gave me a hug. It was so sweet. I said to my sister on the way home "I think Liz really likes me" Kelly said "Teresa, I think everyone in the team really likes you!" (warm fuzzy) Anyway, I realized that I am really this girl's only young female role model. The rest of the girls get so much support from their parents. Liz always has to walk to practice and find her own ride home. I give that girl a lot of credit. She's one of those girls that you could see getting pregnant at 15 or something, because she just wants to feel loved. I think I'm impacting her life in my own way. Anyway, that's my little story about why I love coaching. It fills my heart. I'm pretty annoyed at the roommate. The guy is a pig and I can't stand to be around him most days. Luckily, we don't see much of each other. The man situation is pretty lame. Nothing much going on there. Although Ryan stopped by last night because he and Scott were going out and he was checking me out (oh, I know when he's checking me out, but I didn't mention it to him). Anyway, it gets me thinking - how was it that this guy held my interest for so long and I allowed myself to love him so much and nothing else has come up since then? It's strange, but that's my life. Not like I'm wanting to get back together with him, but I would like to feel that way about someone again. I'm going out with Hooch and Kate and anybody else this weekend. it was their birthday's last week. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. It's a pain to drive up to GB when I'm there every day, then I come home for volleyball practice or games or whatever, the last thing I want to do is do more driving! But everyone's busy anyway. Amanda is like 6 months pregnant I guess. I bet she looks cute. Other than that, not much new with anyone there. I think the last time I saw Abby was when you were in town in July. She's busy with her man of course. Hope all's well with you and I'd love to hear all about your life! One more thing: I have a website now. Check out www.teresaphoto.com! It's very exciting! Love, T

My husband and I are contemplating a move from Chicago to Texas in the very near future. We haven't decided if we want (or can afford) to hire movers or if we are going to do it ourself. We're in a 2 BR/2BA apartment but we have enough stuff for a 3 BR - and then some!. Additionally, we have about 300 boxes in a 10'x15' storage unit. So, we'd like some input from those of you who have made long distance moves and how you did it. Did you rent
a truck and do it yourself, did you hire movers to load and drive the truck, did you hire movers to JUST drive the truck? We're also interested in costs associated with your move. Any experience you can share with us would

There is no real such thing as "reasonable price" when it comes to commercial equipment. I purchased my equipment, new, from Metro Sales

-they are located between Little Chute and Appleton on Wisconsin Ave (down by Ballard Rd). When it comes to purchasing commercial equipment, you have to be very careful buying used as state requirements change - you could end up

buying an expensive piece of equipment that will no longer meet code.

Also,

sometimes used is almost expensive as new. Remember, when purchasing new,

you know you are getting a product that will meet code, have a warranty

plus

if something goes wrong, you can go directly back to the supplier.

Subject: Miro for sale - advice or interest?

From: s.d.akers@sbcglobal.net [/ym/Compose?To=s.d.akers@sbcglobal.net&YY=87976&order=down&s...]

I have a Miro I would like to sell and I hope YOU want to buy it! If not, I would appreciate any guidance you could give me regarding the appropriate way to go about selling a piece like this, and specifically, I request the names of anyone in Chicago who could help me with this or a dealer/gallery who might be interested in buying it. The information about the piece follows. If you have interest, please email me and I can send photos. Thanks!

Bethsabée, a color etching and aquatint, by Juan Miro. This print is signed by the artist in pencil and has 'H.C.' in pencil, indicating hors commerce. This designation (I'm told) was originally used for the first prints, typically pulled by the artist himself, prior to printing the numbered copies.

There were 10 H.C. artist's proofs created for this print with 50 numbered prints. The size of the image is 24 x 29. The plate was defaced. This print is in perfect condition and has an ornate, museum quality frame.

It is a dramatic piece that adds zest, life, and interest to any setting. We have hung it in contemporary and traditional homes and it always works. Insurance replacement cost for this print in 1987 was $11,000 and it is priced in high end galleries for $10,000 - $13,500. Price is negotiable, and I am willing to sell it for much less. Please make an offer...this is an excellent value.

The thing that I have loved most about owning this work, is that everyone who views it sees something different in it! There appears to be a dark figure, with red in the center of the piece. There are additional shapes of green, gold, and blue, with another possible figure. There are dark splatters that create interest. People see figures, shapes in the lines and colors, and shapes in the negative space. This is an outstanding piece that can be enjoyed for its fascinating and unending images. The fact that it is by a renowned artist who work hangs in the major museums is an added benefit of owning it.

Documents of authenticity will be included.
Email me and I will send photos...it's a wonderful piece and I have thoroughly enjoyed owning it.
Thanks in advance for your help!

Yay! For yummy chocolates! If you mailed them out yesterday, it should be fine. What address did you mail it to? Did you get good ones of me milking? Yah? I'm hoping that's what I can put in the "I." P.S. every time I hear fur elise on someone's stupid phone, I get upset on behalf of Beethoven. Poor man, spent his life creating phenomenal pieces for us to turn it into a commodity and play it on stupid sound bytes in a stupid cell phone. I hate songs on cell phones. They are stupid. Stupid. Stupid. All songs. Stupid. P.S.S. I hope you don't have a song on your cell phone P.S.S.S we have lots of cell phones in our office.....

THE SEED TO SUCCESS IS IN YOUR IMAGINATION

Visualize all the things that you want in life.

Then make your mental blueprint, and begin to build.

Your imagination can show you how to turn your possibilities into reality.

You must make every thought, every fact,
that comes into your mind pay you a profit.

Make those mental images work and produce for you.

Think of things not as they are but as you want them to be.

You are such a valuable resource. Thanks so much to all of you who answered my request on activities for first time conference goers. Our budget is very small and will not allow for professional help. If you have any ideas for low-budget activities we can facilitate ourselves, we'd really appreciate hearing about those. However, I will keep all of your emails for future reference.

Hi Kathleen,
I have experience with certification and coaching! I have been a coach for over 8 years and hold 2 different types of credentials in that profession. I completed a course of training from The Coaches Training Institute (CTI) that included experiential learning through workshops and courses, supervised practical training and an exam to determine my competence as a coach. That certification would be similar to obtaining a degree from a college. I also hold a credential from The International Coach Federation (ICF), one of the professional organizations that has established guidelines and practices for the profession of Coaching. That credential is based on my training and experience and needs to be renewed every 3 years. As part of the renewal process, I need to collect appropriate continuing education. It would be more

...e a license to practice.
...he ICF also provides accreditation to training programs and schools --
...which means that programs with an ICF accreditation are required to ...have
...certain components in the training (e.g., Core Competencies Training,
...supervision for coaches in training, a certain number of hours of ...practice
...as a coach). If your colleague is looking at training programs, I ...would
...recommend that he consider the programs that have an affiliation with ...an
...organization such as the ICF that sets standards in the profession.
...If you want more information, feel free to contact me directly. Hope

Angry daughter - Has she always acted this way or is this something new? I know it is young, but could her body be getting ready for her period to start? Could it be her reaction to anxiety? What is her homelife like? How does her role models react to different situations?
She may need to be put on medication. Doctors usually have the patients stay on it for a year. Basically it is the electrons in the brain that are not communicating, causing the reaction. It is just like any other type of illness that someone needs help with. For example, you may have crones disease where medication may be needed at certain times, but not always.

Some people can live a full life without the meds; others need meds. Talk to her pediatrician. A lot of doctors are looking at alternative ways to deal with these types of issues.

Hello Fran!

Do you and your friend have your heart set on Hawaii? The reason I ask is that you could get such great deals to other tropical places (such as Mexico). I went to Hawaii about a year ago, and although we had a great time, my husband and I agreed that we would never go back. It was overly expensive and we were not impressed with any of the food or service (we stayed at some very nice hotels & went to some very nice restaurants).

If

you're looking for a fun vacation where you just want to relax, lay on the beach, and do some activities, I would definitely suggest Puerto Vallarta,

Mexico. The service is excellent, the food is great, and you'll spend the money! Have a great trip!

Hi Teresa,

We met at an event several months ago and I thought I'd send you a copy of this letter in case it was something you'd be interested in. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions, if you need any additional information, or if you would like to donate something to our raffle that will benefit the Women's Fund organization. We will be putting together baskets of several different items, so if you can donate something small or large (ie: gift certificate, etc.), anything is greatly appreciated! I thought this might be a great way for you to get your name out there and hopefully get some exposure & business!

Thanks for your time and have a great day!

Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

To review/update your contact data, simply:

- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page
- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:
<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

Should you have any questions, please email us at <mailto:support@godaddy.com> [/ym/Compose?To=support@godaddy.com&YY=44760&order=down&sort=...] or call our customer support line at 480-505-8877.

Thanks for your attention and thank you for being a GoDaddy.com customer.

Sincerely,
GoDaddy.com Domain Support

Thanks Teresa. I can't wait to have a Mountain Dew in Dec. when we come to visit. Have fun at Cousins night in Nov. We will be here celebrating by ourselves because they don't celebrate Thanksgiving here. That means I'm going to have to cook the turkey, stuffing, pie, etc!

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: I can get the photo to Jaime. It will be early next week, though. Please let me know if that's enough time for you, Jaime. Thanks! Jenny- I was a little surprised to see Matt sitting behind me in church on Sunday!! We tried to figure out a way to smuggle in some Mountain Dew for you... have fun in Italy!

Jennifer Camp <jennyinengland@yahoo.com> wrote: Hi Teresa. Your website looks very nice. Very cute pictures. Since you have all of those pictures electronically, I was wondering if you have the latest family picture of Matt, Sydney and I that you took at my parents house? For our class reunion, Jaime Halbach is doing a photo slide show of old and new pictures of everyone in the class. I still don't have my computer working over here in England to access any of my pictures, so I was wondering if you could email her that picture? We won't do anything else with it, just show it to our entire class very large against a wall. I ccd her on this email, so if you could please respond to her and let her know if that is possible. Jaime, unfortunately (or fortunately) we are leaving for Italy in a few minutes for the week. I hope to get my computer fixed next week when we get back, so if Teresa can't get you that picture, you'll just have to skip my updated picture. Thanks.

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hope all's well over there, honey! Just wanted to send a quick email because I thought you might want to check out my new website, since you might recognize a few smiles... It's www.teresaphoto.com. My brother Mike designed it for me. And we'll be updating it often, so keep checking it. I think there's only one photo of Sydney on there at this point, by that may change! And check out the wedding gallery- yep, that's your back! I also thought I'd send one of Amber's photos that I took last week. I went to Maria and Joe's house and we just took some fun photos outside for her 4-year photos (can you believe she's four already!). Anyway, this is a sneak peek because Maria hasn't even seen them yet! I hear you're just settling into your house now. You've probably had your fill of hotels for awhile! Take care and email back if you feel like it! I'll be sure to keep you posted whenever I take any family photos! Your favorite cousin, Teresa :)

Hey Teresa,

It was great to hear about your busy life! Sounds like so many things have changed for you in the last year. I'm so happy to hear that business is good. It sounds like you have many hobbies and things going on. It's great! I'm envious and wish I could make the time for that.

Great to hear how everyone at WEAP is doing! No, I wouldn't have imagined Adrienne asking you to take nude photos of her...that's cool though that she felt comfortable enough. Maybe we could pass your name around for porn photos :) I'm happy for her that Mason B left... not Mason, but for the mother leaving the program. It'll definitely make her life easier. Glad to hear that everyone is doing well.

So, I had plans to come back for T-giving. but my best friend just got engaged and will be getting married in May. So I'm coming back in May instead (as soon as I get the flights figured out). Jason got a deal on his flights before I bought mine and he was going at different times (because of my work schedule I couldn't come at the time for the "special flights"). So Jason can't change his flights because they are nonchangeable, non refundable, non everything. So he's coming back for T-giving. I'm jealous but happy for him. I have work to focus on so it shouldn't be too bad.

We'll try to both come back in May. It'll be a nicer month to come back anyway. Jason is doing well. He's been having chemo treatments every 12 weeks (I think I told you about that). We think it has helped because he hasn't had any new attacks. His hands are still a little numb but better than a year ago. He does not currently have a job... hopefully he'll get one when he comes back from the states. If he does, then he will for sure come back in May. Not sure we could afford it otherwise.

Work has been extremely busy. I recently got 3 clients in Malaysia! which was great except when I went there (a couple weeks ago), I worked about 14 hour days and never got to sightsee or anything. Well actually I went to the mall for 2 hours before my flight but never bought anything. I'll go every three months so hopefully I'll be able to fit an extra day or two into my schedule next time.

The other reason it's been busy is because Dr. Sallows and Tammy will be coming in a week. Talk about stress levels being high (for me anyway). I just hope and pray that everything will go okay. I'll be so very happy when it's over. I'm really more worried about Tammy than Dr. Sallows (but that's between you and I).

Yes it's really crazy about our friends who had the fire. They are now divorced... everything was so fast. It was really their first big fight ever (in about 10 years) I think it's for the best though... like you said everything happens for a reason and maybe that was the reason for the fire ... I don't know- that's really terrible... fire happened to stress two people out enough to get divorced?... very unfortunate. but I know Troy is doing well and will be happier in the long run.

We had a great time with Andy and Carrie. I worked most of the time but managed to have off the two weekends they were here. We went a lot of places and played a lot of cards. It was great! Feels like so long ago!

Time goes too fast. It's been one year and 10 months now that we've been here. I'm sure we'll be here for another 2 years (my visa expires March 2008). but you never know. When I have really busy weeks or when someone comes to visit, I think about moving to the US again... although I'd really like to live somewhere warm. When we go to the beach (haven't been there for awhile... since Andy and Carrie's visit) , I think how great it would be to stay here forever (although I NEVER would - because it's too hard to see our families).

Anyway, that's what's going on over here... not much besides work stuff which is really boring. I'll have to let you know how the visit from

'is.
Joel... hopefully I'll still have a job :)

Jason says Hi!

Take care and keep in touch,
Brenda

Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,
It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to view domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

To review/update your contact data, simply:

- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page
- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit: <http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

YOU MUST PAY THE PRICE FOR SUCCESS

Everything you want in life has a price connected to it.
There's a price to pay if you want to make things better;
a price to pay for just leaving things as they are,
a price for everything.
Nature cannot be tricked or cheated.
She will give up to you the object of your struggles
only after you have paid her price.
Success cannot be coaxed or bribed.
Pay the price and it will be yours.
The universe is run with far too tight a rein for luck to interfere.
Fortune sells her wares, she never gives them up freely.
In some form or another, you'll pay for her favors,
and you'll go away empty handed.
Success is the child of drudgery and perseverance.
There is no success at bargain basement prices.
The highway to success is a toll road.

ALL GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS TAKE TIME

Every big accomplishment is a series of little accomplishments.

To achieve maximum success

You must accept that progress is made one step at a time.

A building is built one brick at a time.

Football games are won one play at a time.

A business grows bigger one customer at a time.

You walk over the highest mountain one step at a time.

Success is the sum of small efforts repeated day in and day out.

Nothing great is created suddenly,

any more than a bunch of grapes or an apple miraculously appears.

If you want to grow an apple,

you must give it time.

There must be time for it to blossom, bear fruit and then ripen.

That which grows fast, withers as rapidly.

That which grows slowly, endures.

I'm looking for advice on Electronic Data Interchange. There seems to be quite a bit of information out there--can anyone provide some guidance where to start? My company is a small manufacturing plant and has no internal IT personnel, so I'm looking for a basic system -- no bells or whistles. I believe there are EDI-fullfillment companies who handle the administration, etc., but I'm unsure of their reliability. Has anyone

Any recommendations, warnings, etc. will be appreciated. Thanks!

There's a great article from TIME Magazine (10/04) "So Much To Do, So Little Time". It talks about a problem that everyone has. (Cubicle/office interruptions.) It also gives hints on what you can do. I thought it would be a great tool since I'm a professional organizer and I make people more efficient. I could send it as an attachment to anyone who is interested in

Jennifer --

I have had endless problems with my name. My husband's name is Byrne and mine is Bradley. I was already publishing in grad school when we married, so I decided to keep my own name. Besides, I like my name. It's been a hassle all around, and I finally changed my driver's license to Candice Bradley Byrne, with Bradley as the middle name, like women used to do it in my mother-in-law's generation. I also use Byrne on the medical insurance thinking it would be easier if our names were the same, but the messes with that are endless. My favorite of the name dilemma is that the schools have interpreted my different name as 1) divorced, 2) not the mother of my husband's children, 3) living in a different domicile. Our house is in Bradley and Byrne, our checking account has both names, our credit cards have different names (helps that both my names are on the driver's license), etc. And then there is the hassle of the vendors who work on our house or what name we use when we drop off art to be framed, Barnes and Noble discount card, or any such thing. I try to use Byrne, because I can't always remember which name I put the account in.

I absolutely HATE being called Mrs. Byrne. I am not Mrs. Byrne. I am Candice Bradley, Ph.D.. When somebody calls the house and asks for Mrs.

...rne, I know they're taking a survey or trying to get me to donate money. I cringe at being called Mrs. Byrne.

In other words, I haven't solved the dilemma myself. But here is my advice:

1. Put your maiden name as your middle name and drop your middle name.

Put that on your driver's license. No hyphen.

2. Use hubby's name on everything having to do with medical insurance, passports, legal documents, home ownership, banks, schools, doctors, vendors, etc. This is all made much easier if you have all 3 names on everything, e.g. mine is Candice Bradley Byrne.

3. Use your own name professionally if you like, especially if you are already known by that name. Since everything has both names on it, it shouldn't be an issue for anyone.

That's my 2 cents worth.

By the way, Mrs. Byrne is my mother-in-law!

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg, I did get your last email. It's so good to hear from you! Sounds like you're quite busy. My volleyball season is just over now so I might have more time on my hands. Weeks fly by so fast, I lose track of how long it's been since I've talked to people. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. I did go out with abby for her birthday last week. She's doing well. I believe her email address is abbyhuizenga@hotmail.com. By the way, my volleyball team placed 2nd in a tournament on Oct 15th and they played for the championship of our league and got 2nd place out of 18 teams! I'm having all the girls over on Friday for a team party.

should be fun. Gotta get going, hope to hear from you soon! -T

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg! Since I can't get a hold of you by phone, I thought I'd try an email! I'm curious as to how the new job is going, how life is in KC, how's Chris? how was your mom's wedding? how's your dad doing? how was your birthday? what's your new address? See why I've been trying to call - so many questions! Life is pretty crazy for me right now. Business is busy, which is awesome, but tiring. I'd just like a day off once in awhile, but gotta pay the bills! I actually am done with weddings for now also. Until January at least. Unless someone books last minute. Which is always a possibility. I did a wedding last night and then I did a wedding show all day today. It was my first wedding show - you know- I display my work and the brides-to-be come flowing in and ooh and aahh over my work. Kind of a nice feeling. I'm sure I'll get some jobs from it, so that's cool, but it was a loooooonnnnnnnngggggggg weekend, that's for sure. I don't know if I've told you but I'm coaching volleyball for my sister Kelly's 7th grade team. It takes up so much of my time, but I really enjoy it. It's great to get to spend so much time with my sister and have something we share together. The team is 4-2. I love my team. One of the girls, Liz, is this really great girl who you wouldn't pick out as being much of an athlete. But at the beginning of the season, I told her I wanted her to work on her overhand serve. During the first game, she was like "Can I Pllllleeeeeaaaassssssssssseeeeeeee serve underhand, Coach?" I was like, "No, I know you can serve overhand!" (smile) That next weekend, she went home and practiced her overhand serve, and since then she has been one of my best servers. The back story on this girl is that she lives with her dad and grandma. I guess her dad is an alcoholic or something, and her grandma watches tv all day. She only sees her mom once a year or so. So her parents rarely come to her games-well, her dad has been to one and that's it. One week, I ended up giving her a ride to two different games, so I got to talking to her a little more. That following week, I noticed that she was very attentive at practice and really enthusiastic. At the end of practice, she came up to me and gave me a hug. It was so sweet. I said to my sister on the way home "I think Liz really likes me" Kelly said "Teresa, I think everyone on the team really likes you!" (warm fuzzy) Anyway, I realized that I am really this girl's only young female role model. The rest of the girls get so much support from their parents. Liz always has to walk to practice and find her own ride home. I give that girl a lot of credit. She's one of those girls that you could see getting pregnant at 15 or something, because she just wants to feel loved. I think I'm impacting her life in my own way. Anyway, that's my little story about why I love coaching. It fills my heart. I'm pretty annoyed at the roommate. The guy is a pig and I can't stand to be around him most days. Luckily, we don't see much of each other. The man situation is pretty lame. Nothing much going on there. Although Ryan stopped by last night because he and Scott were going out and he was checking me out (oh, I know when he's checking me out, but I didn't mention it to him). Anyway, it gets me thinking - how was it that this guy held my interest for so long and I allowed myself to love him so much and nothing else has come up since then? It's strange, but that's my life. Not like I'm wanting to get back together with him, but I would like to feel that way about someone again. I'm going out with Hooch and Kate and anybody else this weekend. it was their birthday's last week. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. It's a pain to drive up to GB when I'm there every day, then I come home for volleyball practice or games or whatever, the last thing I want to do is do more driving! But everyone's busy anyway. Amanda is like 6 months pregnant I guess. I bet she looks cute. Other than that, not much new with anyone there. I think the last time I saw Abby was when you were in town in July. She's busy with her man of course. Hope all's well with you and I'd love to hear all about your life! One more thing: I have a website now. Check out www.teresaphoto.com! It's very exciting! Love, T

Teresa Halbach <teresaphotography@yahoo.com> wrote: Hey Meg! Since I can't get a hold of you by phone, I thought I'd try an email! I'm curious as to how the new job is going, how life is in KC, how's Chris? how was your mom's wedding? how's your dad doing? how was your birthday? what's your new address? See why I've been trying to call - so many questions! Life is pretty crazy for me right now. Business is busy, which is awesome, but tiring. I'd just like a day off once in awhile, but gotta pay the bills! I actually am done with weddings for now also. Until January at least. Unless someone books last minute. Which is always a possibility. I did a wedding last night and then I did a wedding show all day today. It was my first wedding show - you know- I display my work and the brides-to-be come flowing in and ooh and aahh over my work. Kind of a nice feeling. I'm sure I'll get some jobs from it, so that's cool, but it was a loooooonnnnnnnngggggggg weekend, that's for sure. I don't know if I've told you but I'm coaching volleyball for my sister Kelly's 7th grade team. It takes up so much of my time, but I really enjoy it. It's great to get to spend so much time with my sister and have something we share together. The team is 4-2. I love my team. One of the girls, Liz, is this really great girl who you wouldn't pick out as being much of an athlete. But at the beginning of the season, I told her I wanted her to work on her overhand serve. During the first game, she was like "Can I Pllleeeeeeeaaaassssssssseeeeeee serve underhand, Coach?" I was like, "No, I know you can serve overhand!" (smile) That next weekend, she went home and practiced her overhand serve, and since then she has been one of my best servers. The back story on this girl is that she lives with her dad and grandma. I guess her dad is an alcoholic or something, and her grandma watches tv all day. She only sees her mom once a year or so. So her parents rarely come to her games-well, her dad has been to one and that's it. One week, I ended up giving her a ride to two different games, so I got to talking to her a little more. That following week, I noticed that she was very attentive at practice and really enthusiastic. At the end of practice, she came up to me and gave me a hug. It was so sweet. I said to my sister on the way home "I think Liz really likes me" Kelly said "Teresa, I think everyone on the team really likes you!" (warm fuzzy) Anyway, I realized that I am really this girl's only young female role model. The rest of the girls get so much support from their parents. Liz always has to walk to practice and find her own ride home. I give that girl a lot of credit. She's one of those girls that you could see getting pregnant at 15 or something, because she just wants to feel loved. I think I'm impacting her life in my own way. Anyway, that's my little story about why I love coaching. It fills my heart. I'm pretty annoyed at the roommate. The guy is a pig and I can't stand to be around him most days. Luckily, we don't see much of each other. The man situation is pretty lame. Nothing much going on there. Although Ryan stopped by last night because he and Scott were going out and he was checking me out (oh, I know when he's checking me out, but I didn't mention it to him). Anyway, it gets me thinking - how was it that this guy held my interest for so long and I allowed myself to love him so much and nothing else has come up since then? It's strange, but that's my life. Not like I'm wanting to get back together with him, but I would like to feel that way about someone again. I'm going out with Hooch and Kate and anybody else this weekend. it was their birthday's last week. I haven't seen much of any friends lately. It's a pain to drive up to GB when I'm there every day, then I come home for volleyball practice or games or whatever, the last thing I want to do is do more driving! But everyone's busy anyway. Amanda is like 6 months pregnant I guess. I bet she looks cute. Other than that, not much new with anyone there. I think the last time I saw Abby was when you were in town in July. She's busy with her man of course. Hope all's well with you and I'd love to hear all about your life! One more thing: I have a website now. Check out www.teresaphoto.com! It's very exciting! Love, T

Teresa,

I am just following up from this email you sent late Sept. You did a great job with VB and we don't want to wear you out. But you asked, and I am not going to overlook your request. 7th and 8th grade are playing together with Ric Bornemann as head coach and two assistants: John Zitelsberger and Charlie Gehl. All have children on the team. Ric Bornemann is the one you/I would need to ask about being an assistant coach. I am hesitant because 4 coaches may be too many but will ask if you still want me to. Do you want me to?

On behalf of the school, thanks for everything with VB!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Steve

basketball, but for whatever reason I hear "they" might not let him. (not sure who "they" refers to!) Anyhow, just wanted to let you know that I wouldn't mind being an assistant coach for basketball for my sister's team. I'm not as confident in the sport of basketball, but I feel that I could help out in more of a "moral support" role. Just a thought - if there's enough interest, it's not something I'd fight for or anything! I'd love to help out if I could.

Of course, 13 year-olds don't always know what's best for them! I guess I'm curious as to what the situation is and if there's any input I can give you to help.

Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

- review/update your contact data, simply:
- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page

- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:
<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

Should you have any questions, please email us at <mailto:support@godaddy.com> [/ym/Compose?To=support@godaddy.com&YY=91262&order=down&sort=...] or call our customer support line at 480-505-8877.

Thanks for your attention and thank you for being a GoDaddy.com customer.

Sincerely,

Hi Cara, I have your order figured out - just one thing--did your grandma Harvey order a 5x7, and if so, what's the photo number? That's the only thing that didn't match up. I had all 4x5 (or 4x6) for her. If you could check on that for me and e-mail back, then I'll send you everyone's totals. Hope you had a fun weekend! -Teresa

So I got out of my site this weekend!! (I know it dosent sound like a big deal) BUT the thing is.... the damn bus company that services my town has decided to candel the service. So, I no longer have bus access. Its actually a pretty big deal... the PC is thinking about changing my site because of it... damn them, If they would have told me that they were thinking about changing my site a few months ago... I would have been happy.

BUT now I have pretty much gotten used to my life in the hole. Ok, so as I stated earlier, I got out of my site this weekend.... BUT for some reason Im feeling a bit lonley. I know, its strange to hear that comming from me.

I dont know, Ive been thinking about that lately... BEING ALONE. Sometimes it really sucks, I love being independent, but sometimes I think my life has been very cold... Are you understanding what Im writing or do I sound like a blabbering fool? oh, well... I think you will understand me.

I really wish I could see you right now... sit on your sofa, have a few drinks and then you know... talk. OH, GOD... most guys would finish that sentence VERY differently. So, are you doing ok? I really enjoyed your last beper message (about what your girls did for you). After all is done I think you really made an imprint on their lives... thats something to really smile about. I hope your business is doing well, I cant even imagin what you are up to. Ok, I think Im going to end this message now. Its been great talking with you... ok, well its not exactly the same. BUT thanks for listening to me, I really miss you a lot and I wish I could listen to you bitch about something.
 Ok, bye
 ken

YOU CAN LIVE YOUR DREAM

You have to make your own opportunities.
Your future is not a matter of chance.
It's a matter of the choices you make.
It's not something you wait for.
It's something you must actively pursue.
Don't wait for extraordinary opportunities.
Seize common occasions and make them great.
Opportunity can come disguised in the form of misfortune, or temporary defeat.
Start today, right where you are.
Plow fields will always appear greener.
Yet, golden opportunities are all around you.

 Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

- To review/update your contact data, simply:
- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
 - + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page
 - + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
 - + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit: <http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

Should you have any questions, please email us at <mailto:support@godaddy.com> [/ym/Compose?To=support@godaddy.com&YY=58552&order=down&sort=...] or call our customer support line at 480-505-8877.

Thanks for your attention and thank you for being a GoDaddy.com customer.

Sincerely,

Happy Halloween! It is hard to believe it is already the middle of October. Toyland has opened and the stores are starting to look like Christmas. Wouldn't it be great to get your holiday shopping done early? I am an Independent Consultant for Inspired Aroma Inc. They have coffee and tea products that I consider to be the best on the market! I have been working with them for a little over a year now and love their products more every day! I started to work with them because of my love of specialty coffees and now I've become an avid tea drinker. If you don't drink tea or coffee – check out our Personal Blender! I use mine almost every day...it only takes a couple of minutes to put a handful of frozen strawberries, a banana, milk and a little yogurt into the cup, blend it, put on the travel cover and go! A very fast and nutritional breakfast! Here is the link to our Filter Infused –a great newsletter to keep you informed of our monthly specials. If you place an order online by 11/11/05 with a minimum purchase of $50 –you can receive a free ceramic teapot. Check out the newsletter for more details.

ENVP Meloni Barkley had special guest trainer NVP Jennifer Taylor. Jennifer was at the D level with $1800 in volume in January 2005, began the new biz approach in Feb, and promoted to Region in April; then right on to Nation in September (8 mos later) finishing with over $350,000 in volume on her team! Her approach to the biz is exactly what we are doing here in WI...she gives her insight, her "get it done" attitude, and her schedule for drops and pick ups; biz appts and follow ups. Hey Teresa,

It was great to hear about your busy life! Sounds like so many things have changed for you in the last year. I'm so happy to hear that business is good. It sounds like you have many hobbies and things going on. It's great! I'm envious and wish I could make the time for that.

Great to hear how everyone at WEAP is doing! No, I wouldn't have imagined Adrienne asking you to take nude photos of her...that's cool though that she felt comfortable enough. Maybe we could pass your name around for porn shots :) I'm happy for her that Mason B left... not Mason, but for the mother leaving the program. It'll definitely make her life easier. Glad to hear that everyone is doing well.

So, I had plans to come back for T-giving. but my best friend just got engaged and will be getting married in May. So I'm coming back in May instead (as soon as I get the flights figured out). Jason got a deal on his flights before I bought mine and he was going at different times (because of my work schedule I couldn't come at the time for the "special flights"). So Jason can't change his flights because they are nonchangeable, non refundable, non everything. So he's coming back for T-giving. I'm jealous but happy for him. I have work to focus on so it shouldn't be too bad.

We'll try to both come back in May. It'll be a nicer month to come back anyway. Jason is doing well. He's been having chemo treatments every 12 weeks (I think I told you about that). We think it has helped because he hasn't had any new attacks. His hands are still a little numb but better than a year ago. He does not currently have a job... hopefully he'll get one when he comes back from the states. If he does, then he will for sure come back in May. Not sure we could afford it otherwise.

Work has been extremely busy. I recently got 3 clients in Malaysia! which was great except when I went there (a couple weeks ago), I worked about 14 hours a day and never got to sightsee or anything. Well actually I went to the mall for 2 hours before my flight but never bought anything. I'll go every three months so hopefully I'll be able to fit an extra day or two into my schedule next time.

The other reason it's been busy is because Dr. Sallows and Tammy will be coming in a week. Talk about stress levels being high (for me anyway). I just hope and pray that everything will go okay. I'll be so very happy when it's over. I'm really more worried about Tammy than Dr. Sallows (but that's between you and I).

Yes it's really crazy about our friends who had the fire. They are now divorced... everything was so fast. It was really their first big fight ever (in about 10 years) I think it's for the best though... like you said everything happens for a reason and maybe that was the reason for the fire. I don't know- that's really terrible... fire happened to stress two people out enough to get divorced?... very unfortunate. but I know they are doing well and will be happier in the long run.

...e had a great time with Andy and Carrie. I worked most of the time but
 ...managed to have off the two weekends they were here. We went a lot of places and played a lot of cards. It was great! Feels like so long ago!

 been here. I'm sure we'll be here for another 2 years (my visa expires
 March 2008). but you never know. When I have really busy weeks or when someone comes to visit, I think about moving to the US again... although I'd really like to live somewhere warm. When we go to the beach (haven't been there for awhile... since Andy and Carrie's visit) , I think how great it would be to stay here forever (although I NEVER would - because it's too hard not to see our families).

Anyway, that's what's going on over here... not much besides work stuff which is really boring. I'll have to let you know how the visit from Wis.
 goes... hopefully I'll still have a job :)

...son says Hi!

...ake care and keep in touch,
 Brenda

Few Thoughts from Jeffrey Hollender, President

Autumn is fashion season. All eyes turn toward Manhattan, Paris, Milan and other epicenters of chic to see what the hot new trends are, what's going to be in and what's about to be out. This fall is likely to be no different, but it's also likely to offer a glimpse at more than just the year's new looks. I think it's going to give us our first preview of a whole new wave that's coming our way. A trendsetter called Mother Nature is about to see to it. And making green the new black is at the top of her to-do list.

We've been talking about it. You've been hearing about it. And now our 2004 Corporate Responsibility Report is here at last. This annual rite of passage on the road to sustainability is a look back at where we've been and a look forward at where we need to go in order to become the kind of company we want to be. This year's edition broadens these perspectives to take in more of the big picture and make more of the kind of connections that need to be made in order to fulfill our ultimate vision.

Just How Much is the Stuff of Teflon® Sticking It to Us? Are Fluorinated Compounds the New Chlorinated Compounds?

They are among the world's most recognizable brands and shining symbols of life made simpler by modern miracles of technology. Teflon. Stainmaster®. Scotchgard®. SilverStone®. When these brands are around, things don't stick, stains don't stain, and we don't have to scrub stuff nearly as much as we used to. Recent evidence, however, suggests that non-stick coatings may be freeing more than food and spilled grape juice. They may be letting loose the molecules they're made from and sticking with us for a very long while.

More Power to Ya! Our Guide to Getting More Out of Every Gallon and Buying Fewer BTUs

From the gas tank to the oil tank to the propane tank, a fill-up of any kind these days requires a second mortgage and one or more of the kids as collateral. No matter what kind you use, energy prices are soaring out of sight faster than you can say "penniless." Between diminishing supplies, increased demand, and disruptions from hurricanes and wars, this winter promises to squeeze us all between a rock and a cold place. Manic About Organic: A Healthy Harvest of the Latest Food News

We love autumn. Here in Vermont, maple-clad mountainsides burst with spectacular color, the air is filled with the scent of apples and fallen leaves, and our kitchen tables groan under the weight of nature's bounty. As we pull in the results of the year's harvest from the garden and start the season's canning, we've got food on our minds. It's the perfect time to share some of the food-related news we've gathered in recent weeks.

Rebuilding Something Better: Seventh Generation Rides to the Rescue in New Orleans

traordinary food, and all manner of lively heritage, there was only the eerie croaking of frogs swept in on Lake Pontchartrain's floodwaters. Many thought the city would never rise again. But some saw an opportunity to make it even better than before. You can count us among that hopeful latter number.

Live Green, Live Better, Live Longer: Two Eco-Websites Share Their Wisdom

Born during the American Revolution, New Hampshire's state slogan famously implores its citizenry to "Live Free or Die." If it were our slogan, we might change it to "Live Green or Die Trying." Fortunately, it doesn't have to come down to that last part. There are plenty of resources that can help us live green without going to extremes. This month, we've got two of the web-based best to share.

Dear Friends,

In the weeks following Hurricane Katrina's destruction, more than 50 photographic organizations pledged support and more than $90,000 in donations streamed in to aid displaced colleagues. The warm hearted response of our industry family is an awesome force. To those who have already contributed - thank you from the P.H.O.T.O. Foundation! Although the devastating news headlines have diminished, the needs among our impacted colleagues have not. With your staunch support, by whatever means possible - contributing cash, sharing equipment, offering a job, donating in-kind services or rallying additional contributors - our Gulf Coast family will be a step closer to returning to normal.

Help us achieve the goal of raising $150,000 by November 4, 2005 and make a difference in the personal and professional well-being of industry members in need. Here's what you can do:

Make a contribution. Send checks to: P.H.O.T.O. Foundation, PO Box 611, Deerfield, IL 60015 or visit www.photofoundation.net to donate funds, equipment or services online.

Help displaced colleagues benefit from the photographic industry's collaborative efforts. Direct individuals in need to the "aid application" posted at www.photofoundation.net.

Many thanks,

Every time you repeat the act you strengthen the strand.
 You add to it another filament with each repetition, until it becomes a great cable and binds you irrevocably to each thought and act.
First you make your habits and then they make you.
 Your thoughts lead you to your purpose.
 Your purpose always manifests into action.
 Your actions form your habits.
 Your habits determine your character, and your character fixes your destiny.
 Your habits are either the best of servants or the worst of masters.

Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

To review/update your contact data, simply:

- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page
- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:
<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

Should you have any questions, please email us at <mailto:support@godaddy.com> [/ym/Compose?To=support@godaddy.com&YY=640&order=down&sort=da...] or call our customer support line at 480-505-8877.

Thanks for your attention and thank you for being a GoDaddy.com customer.

Sincerely,
GoDaddy.com Domain Support

YOUR GOALS WILL LEAD YOU TO SUCCESS

If you have correct goals, and you keep pursuing them the best way you know how, everything else will fall into line.
 If you do the right thing right,
 you're going to succeed.
 You are what and where you are today because you first imagined it.
 Knowing where you want to go is all you need to get there.
 Just return over and over to that picture in your mind of the place you are headed for.
 The first essential element of success is to know what you want.

Subject: Name change question

From: jwright@iversongaming.com [/ym/Compose?To=jwright@iversongaming.com&YY=94603&order=&sor...]

as anyone run into any difficulty using a married name personally and maiden name professionally? I married in June and I know my husband would like me to change my name, however I am beginning to make a name for myself in my company and professional contacts. I realize that if I change my name,
 I need to notify social security, my banks, credit card companies, the DMV,
 passport agency and any other accounts which I'm associated. However, if I keep my maiden name at work and they arrange for my travel, my ID won't match.
 Does anyone else see additional problems? Advantages? I'd like to hear personal experiences and advice. And as far as hyphenating, I was never
 fan of that option.

Thanks in advance,

From: nancy@adventurebanners.com [\[ym/Compose?To=nancy@adventurebanners.com&YY=94603&order=&so...\]](mailto:nancy@adventurebanners.com)

Greeting FoxWIT Members

Have you read Malcom Gladwell's Tipping Point or Blink? How about

Stephen

Covey's 8th Habit? Or Jack Welch's "Winning" Book?

If you haven't heard of the Luminary Series, you might want to attend

leadership training event that offers an impressive line-up of speakers. On Wednesday, November 2nd, the University of Marquette is sponsoring the

Annual Worldwide Luminary Series at the KI Center in Green Bay and in Milwaukee. The last time LumaCore held this event, there were over 20,000+ plus people who attended worldwide. It will be a global satellite event broadcasted from Washington D.C. This is an excellent team training program.

If you want more information, you can register online and check out the costs and details at www.LuminarySeries.com or call 1-800-289-0051.

I'll be coordinating the event for Marquette University at Green Bay.

So far, I've read Malcom Gladwell's Tipping Point, Blink (very good),

8th

'Habit and met Richard Branson at EAA. (rich, rich, rich and very good looking!) Jack Welch is such a treat to listen to...and I could go on and

Thanks Teresa. I can't wait to have a Mountain Dew in Dec. when we come to visit. Have fun at Cousins night in Nov. We will be here celebrating by ourselves because they don't celebrate Thanksgiving here. That means I'm going to have to cook the turkey, stuffing, pie, etc!

Jenny- I was a little surprised to see Matt sitting behind me in church on Sunday!! We tried to figure out a way to smuggle in some Mountain Dew for you... have fun in italy!

Jennifer Camp <jennyinengland@yahoo.com> wrote: Hi Teresa. Your website looks very nice. Very cute pictures. Since you have all of those pictures electronically, I was wondering if you have the latest family picture of Matt, Sydney and I that you took at my parents house? For our class reunion, Jaime Halbach is doing a photo slide show of old and new pictures of everyone in the class. I still don't have my computer working over here in England to access any of my pictures, so I was wondering if you could email her that picture? We won't do anything else with it, just show it to our entire class very large against a wall. I ccd her on this email, so if you could please respond to her and let her know if that is possible. Jaime, unfortunately (or fortunately) we are leaving for Italy in a few minutes for the week. I hope to get my computer fixed next week when we get back, so if Teresa can't get you that picture, you'll just have to skip my updated picture. Thanks.

I also thought I'd send one of Amber's photos that I took last week. I went to Maria and Joe's house and we just took some fun photos outside for her 4-year photos (can you believe she's four already!). Anyway, this is a sneak peek because Maria hasn't even seen them yet! I hear you're just settling into your house now. You've probably had your fill of hotels for awhile! Take care and email back if you feel like it! I'll be sure to keep you posted whenever I take any family photos! Your favorite cousin, Teresa :)

 to let you know of a recorded training call that is EXCELLENT... ENVP Meloni Barkley had special guest trainer NVP Jennifer Taylor. Jennifer was at the D level with $1800 in volume in January 2005, began the new biz approach in Feb, and promoted to Region in April; then right on to Nation in September (8 mos later) finishing with over $350,000 in volume attitude, and her schedule for drops and pick ups; biz appts and follow ups. A must listen to for those who are serious about making significant money with Arbonne, and for those who want to make a difference in other people's lives. Call

Happy Halloween! It is hard to believe it is already the middle of October. Toyland has opened and the stores are starting to look like Christmas. Wouldn't it be great to get your holiday shopping done early? I am an Independent Consultant for Inspired Aroma Inc. They have coffee and tea products that I consider to be the best on the market! I have been working with them for a little over a year now and love their products more every day! I started to work with them because of my love of specialty coffees and now I've become an avid tea drinker. If you don't drink tea or coffee – check out our Personal Blender! I use mine almost every day...it only takes a couple of minutes to put a handful of frozen strawberries, a banana, milk and a little yogurt into the cup, blend it, put on the travel cover and go! A very fast and nutritional breakfast! Here is the link to our Filter Infused –a great newsletter to keep you informed of our monthly specials. If you place an order online by 11/11/05 with a minimum purchase of $50 –you can receive a free ceramic teapot. Check out the newsletter for more details.

 Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

- To review/update your contact data, simply:
- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
 - + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the page
 - + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
 - + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

However, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:

Subject: Name change question

From: jwright@iversongaming.com [/ym/Compose?To=jwright@iversongaming.com&YY=94603&order=&sor...]

Has anyone run into any difficulty using a married name personally and a maiden name professionally? I married in June and I know my husband would like me to change my name, however I am beginning to make a name for myself in my company and professional contacts. I realize that if I change my name, I need to notify social security, my banks, credit card companies, the DMV, passport agency and any other accounts which I'm associated. However, if I keep my maiden name at work and they arrange for my travel, my ID won't match. Does anyone else see additional problems? Advantages? I'd like to hear personal experiences and advice. And as far as hyphenating, I was never a fan of that option.

Thanks in advance,

Have you read Malcom Gladwell's Tipping Point or Blink? How about Stephen

Covey's 8th Habit? Or Jack Welch's "Winning" Book?

If you haven't heard of the Luminary Series, you might want to attend the leadership training event that offers an impressive line-up of speakers. On Wednesday, November 2nd, the University of Marquette is sponsoring the 11th

Annual Worldwide Luminary Series at the KI Center in Green Bay and in Milwaukee. The last time LumaCore held this event, there were over 20,000+ plus people who attended worldwide. It will be a global satellite event broadcasted from Washington D.C. This is an excellent team training program.

If you want more information, you can register online and check out the costs and details at www.LUminarySeries.com or call 1-800-289-0051.

I be ordinating the event for Marquette University at Green Bay.

So far, I've read Malcom Gladwell's Tipping Point, Blink (very good), 8th

Habit and met Richard Branson at EAA. (rich, rich, rich and very good looking!) Jack Welch is such a treat to listen to...and I could go on and on...

Green is the New Black (And Common Sense is About to Fall Back in Fashion)

A Few Thoughts from Jeffrey Hollender, President

Autumn is fashion season. All eyes turn toward Manhattan, Paris, Milan and other epicenters of chic to see what the hot new trends are, what's going to be in and what's about to be out. This fall is likely to be no different, but it's also likely to offer a glimpse at more than just the year's new looks. I think it's going to give us our first preview of a whole new wave that's coming our way. A trendsetter called Mother Nature is about to see to it. And making green the new black is at the top of her to-do list.

They are among the world's most recognizable brands and shining symbols of life made simpler by modern miracles of technology. Teflon. Stainmaster®. Scotchgard®. SilverStone®. When these brands are around, things don't stick, stains don't stain, and we don't have to scrub stuff nearly as much as we used to. Recent evidence, however, suggests that non-stick coatings may be freeing more than food and spilled grape juice. They may be letting loose the molecules they're made from and sticking with us for a very long while.

We love autumn. Here in Vermont, maple-clad mountainsides burst with spectacular color, the air is filled with the scent of apples and fallen leaves, and our kitchen tables groan under the weight of nature's bounty. Rebuilding Something Better: Seventh Generation Rides to the Rescue in New Orleans

When Hurricane Katrina struck the Gulf Coast in late August, it transformed one of America's cultural treasures into a wasteland of toxic muck and community devastation. Where once the city of New Orleans burst with joyful music, extraordinary food, and all manner of lively heritage, there was only the eerie croaking of frogs swept in on Lake Pontchartrain's floodwaters. Many thought the city would never rise again. But some saw an opportunity to make it even better than before. You can count us among that hopeful latter number.

Born during the American Revolution, New Hampshire's state slogan famously implores its citizenry to "Live Free or Die." If it were our slogan, we might change it to "Live Green or Die Trying." Important ICANN Notice Regarding Your Domain Name(s)

Dear Teresa Halbach,

It's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

To review/update your contact data, simply:

- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the

- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:
<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm> [<http://www.icann.org/registrars/wdrp.htm>]

Dear Teresa Halbach,

's that time of year again. ICANN (the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers) annually requires that all accredited registrars (like Go Daddy(R)) ask their domain administrators/registrants to review domain name contact data, and make any changes necessary to ensure accuracy.

To review/update your contact data, simply:

- + Go to www.godaddy.com/?isc=ICANNKEY
- + Click on the "ICANN Domain Confirmation" icon at the top of the

- + You will be taken to a landing page and asked to enter your Domain Information Key: 7B199D34-5718-4082-9543-FDDF1F82BE2A
- + Enter your key and click "Go."

Next, simply review the contact information for each domain name. To make a correction, log in to "My Account" with your customer number or log in name and password. Click "Manage Domains" and then "Manage Contacts." If you find that your domain contact data is accurate, there's no need to take action.

If, however, your domain contact information is inaccurate, you must correct it. (Under ICANN rules and the terms of your registration agreement, providing false contact information can be grounds for domain name cancellation.) To review the ICANN policy, visit:

ood. It sounds like you have many hobbies and things going on. It's great! I'm envious and wish I could make the time for that.

Great to hear how everyone at WEAP is doing! No, I wouldn't have imagined Adrienne asking you to take nude photos of her...that's cool though that she felt comfortable enough. Maybe we could pass your name around for porn shots :) I'm happy for her that Mason B left... not Mason, but for the mother leaving the program. It'll definitely make her life easier. Glad to hear that everyone is doing well.

So, I had plans to come back for T-giving. but my best friend just got engaged and will be getting married in May. So I'm coming back in May instead (as soon as I get the flights figured out). Jason got a deal on his flights before I bought mine and he was going at different times (because of my work schedule I couldn't come at the time for the "special flights"). So Jason can't change his flights because they are nonchangeable, non refundable, non everything. So he's coming back for T-giving. I'm jealous but happy for him. I have work to focus on so it shouldn't be too bad.

we'll try to both come back in May. It'll be a nicer month to come back anyway. Jason is doing well. He's been having chemo treatments every 12 weeks (I think I told you about that). We think it has helped because he hasn't had any new attacks. His hands are still a little numb but better than a year ago. He does not currently have a job... hopefully he'll get one when he comes back from the states. If he does, then he will for sure come back in May. Not sure we could afford it otherwise.

Work has been extremely busy. I recently got 3 clients in Malaysia! which was great except when I went there (a couple weeks ago), I worked about 14 hour days and never got to sightsee or anything. Well actually I went to the mall for 2 hours before my flight but never bought anything. I'll go every three months so hopefully I'll be able to fit an extra day or two into my schedule next time.

one other reason it's been busy is because Dr. Sallows and Tammy will be coming in a week. Talk about stress levels being high (for me anyway). I just hope and pray that everything will go okay. I'll be so very happy

ey Teresa,

It was great to hear about your busy life! Sounds like so many things have changed for you in the last year. I'm so happy to hear that business then s over. I'm really more worried about Tammy than Dr. Sallows (but that's between you and I).

Yes it's really crazy about our friends who had the fire. They are now divorced... everything was so fast. It was really their first big fight ever (in about 10 years) I think it's for the best though... like you said everything happens for a reason and maybe that was the reason for the fire
... I don't know- that's really terrible... fire happened to stress two people out enough to get divorced?... very unfortunate. but I know Troy is doing well and will be happier in the long run.

We had a great time with Andy and Carrie. I worked most of the time
but managed to have off the two weekends they were here. We went a lot of places and played a lot of cards. It was great! Feels like so long ago!

Time goes too fast. It's been one year and 10 months now that we've been here. I'm sure we'll be here for another 2 years (my visa expires
March 2008). but you never know. When I have really busy weeks or when meone
really like to live somewhere warm. When we go to the beach (haven't been there
for awhile... since Andy and Carrie's visit) , I think how great it would be to stay here forever (although I NEVER would - because it's too hard not to see our families).

Anyway, that's what's going on over here... not much besides work stuff which is really boring. I'll have to let you know how the visit from Wis.
goes... hopefully I'll still have a job :)

Jason says Hi!

Take care and keep in touch,
Brenda

It's so great to hear from you! It's a Saturday night and I just watched a Yay! For yummy chocolates! If you mailed them out yesterday, it should be fine. What address did you mail it to? Did you get good ones of me milking? Yah? I'm hoping that's what I can put in the "I." P.S. every time I hear fur elise on someone's stupid phone, I get upset on behalf of Beethoven. Poor man, spent his life creating phenomenal pieces for us to turn it into a commodity and play it on stupid sound bytes in a stupid cell phone. I hate songs on cell phones. They are stupid. Stupid. Stupid. All songs. Stupid. P.S.S. I hope you don't have a song on your cell phone P.S.S.S we have lots of cell phones in our office.....

YOU MUST PAY THE PRICE FOR SUCCESS

Everything you want in life has a price connected to it.
There's a price to pay if you want to make things better;
a price to pay for just leaving things as they are,
a price for everything.
Nature cannot be tricked or cheated.
She will give up to you the object of your struggles
only after you have paid her price.
Success cannot be coaxed or bribed.
Pay the price and it will be yours.
The universe is run with far too tight a rein for luck to interfere.
Fortune sells her wares, she never gives them up freely.
In some form or another, you'll pay for her favors, or you'll go away empty handed.
Success is the child of drudgery and perseverance.
There is no success at bargain basement prices.
The highway to success is a toll road.

THE SEED TO SUCCESS IS IN YOUR IMAGINATION

Visualize all the things that you want in life.
Then make your mental blueprint, and begin to build.
Your imagination can show you how to turn your possibilities into reality.
You must make every thought, every fact,
that comes into your mind pay you a profit.
Make those mental images work and produce for you.
Think of things not as they are but as you want them to be.
Don't just dream, be creative.
The will to succeed springs from the knowledge that you can succeed.

Customer #: 6564492

IMG [http://images.godaddy.com/promos/std/spc_trans.gif]

Thank you for choosing Go Daddy as your Web hosting provider! This email message provides instructions for uploading your Web site to your hosting account.

While your hosting account is now active, it typically can take between 24-48 hours before your hosting account is ready for you to upload your Web site.

If you have any problems or questions about these hosting instructions, please consult our Frequently Asked Questions: https://www.godaddy.com/gdshop/faq/howto_guide.asp?prog_id=GoDaddy370#WebHosting

FTP Account Information

Each hosting account comes with an FTP account and personal FTP site for your use. Your FTP site is basically a directory (folder) on our Web Server where your Web pages reside. When people visit your site, they are viewing the Web pages stored in your FTP directory. To transfer files to your FTP directory, you will need the following account information. Please note that the Hosting/FTP user name and password provided here are NOT the same as your customer account user name and password.

Hosting/FTP User Name: teresa22
Hosting/FTP Password: t0322
Web Site URL: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
FTP Site URL: <ftp://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
Your Web Site Visitor Statistics: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM/stats>

All transfers are done by uploading the files to your hosting account. We suggest either of the following two methods of transferring files:

Microsoft Internet Explorer

File Transfer Protocol (FTP) Utility - WS_FTP Using Internet Explorer

Internet Explorer allows you to transfer files directly to your FTP site without requiring an FTP utility.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/IE/ie.htm>

Open Windows Explorer to the folder that contains your Web site pages. Leave open as you will come back to this window. Establish an Internet connection, and then open Internet Explorer. In the Internet Explorer Address Bar, type your FTP Site address: "ftp://", followed by your domain name; for example, "ftp://www.namegoeshere.com". In the Log On As dialog box, enter your FTP user name and password, and then click Log On. If an FTP Folder Error dialog box appears, click OK, and then click Login As in the File menu to open the Log On As dialog box. Select the files to transfer in Windows Explorer and drag them to your FTP directory in Internet Explorer. You can also copy and paste the necessary files. Using WS_FTP File Transfer Protocol Utility

WS_FTP offers a full range of file transfer features that let you transfer files directly to your FTP directory.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/WSFTP/wsftp.htm>

Establish an Internet connection, and then open WS_FTP and click Connect. In the Session Properties dialog box, click New. Complete your profile. In the Profile Name text box, enter a profile name, for example My Profile; in the Host Name/Address text box, type your domain name (without the www.), for example godaddy.com; ignore the Host Type text box; in the User ID and Password text boxes, enter your FTP user name and password. Click OK. In the WS_FTP window, navigate to your Web site files in the Local System pane on the left side of the window. Double-click the file to transfer or select multiple files and click the transfer arrow located between the Local System and Remote Site panes. Click Exit and close the program. Assigning Domain Name Server Information

Assigning Domain Name Server Information

If your domain was registered by Go Daddy, we will automatically update your account information. However, if your domain is registered with another company, you will have to go to your domain registration account and assign the domain name servers (DNS) for your new hosting account. DNS information is used to identify your Web site on the Internet.

Primary DNS Host: WSC1.JOMAX.NET

Primary DNS IP: 64.202.165.4

Secondary DNS Host: WSC2.JOMAX.NET

Secondary DNS IP: 64.202.167.50 SSL Certificate

Secure your visitors and customers data and transactions with an affordable, up to 256-bit encryption SSL Certificate.

Hey Teresa, I feel so bad emailing instead of calling. but it seems like i never have any time for myself or to just sit and talk. the job is going good, i like the people i work with, i don't get to adjust many people because i am not on any insurance companies yet. plus he wants me to go out and get my patients, which i understand but its hard to market and get out in the community when i am stuck in the office 55 hours a week! The one major negative is the hours i work. the office is 20 minutes from home so i have to stay for my lunch break which is 2 hours, but 3 out of the 5 days we have meetings during them anyway. we are open really early from 7am to 6pm monday, wed and fri and 9am till 6pm tues and thursday. plus sometimes patients come in late or we have more fucking meetings and we are here till 7pm. so the hours really suck! i am supposed to get a half day off, but i don't think until another month from now. i kinda do alot of shit work too, which i knew i would but sometimes it gets frustrating. the money is better than my other job but then i only worked there 3 days a week!! i guess what i am trying to say is....i hate working 5 days a week!! :) but i'll deal until i either leave or get enough patients to make my own hours. things with chris are good. we still have our fights but most of the time we have fun and enjoy each other more than before. the most recent news is...we have another son! i'm not prego but we adopted another dog 2 weeks ago. his name is romeo and he is 7 months old we think, he is part great dane, part shar pei! its quite a cute mix, he is a little stinker at times but a pretty good dog. niko is still hanging in there, he is still sick all the time but now he has a buddy to play with during the day, i think he likes him, i almost think he has been less sick since we got romeo, but i can't say for sure. but boo boo loves romeo, they play and chase each other more than niko does. its pretty funny to watch. i was home last weekend with chris for my mom's wedding, i meant to call you to let you know i was going to be in fondy but i am so bad about calling plus as soon as i get home i feed the dogs and myself and go to bed. i hate waking up at 5:30am, i don't even have any energy to workout cuz i am so tired. so i never call anyone except weekends and then i talk for hours cuz i haven't talked with them for weeks!! i promise i will make time to call you. i have a seminar this weekend, so if traffic isn't too bad i will call on my drive there, its like a half hour away, kinda sucks! lets see....oh my dad, he is doing pretty good, i got to see him for a couple hours over the weekend, definetly wasn't enough time but we are going to wisconsin for christmas so we will try to make plans with you. but he is doing ok, he still

Thank you for choosing Go Daddy as your Web hosting provider! This email message provides instructions for uploading your Web site to your hosting account.

While your hosting account is now active, it typically can take between 24-48 hours before your hosting account is ready for you to upload your Web site.

If you have any problems or questions about these hosting instructions, please consult our Frequently Asked Questions: https://www.godaddy.com/gdshop/faq/howto_guide.asp?prog_id=GoDaddy370#WebHosting

FTP Account Information

Each hosting account comes with an FTP account and personal FTP site for your use. Your FTP site is basically a directory (folder) on our Web Server where your Web pages reside. When people visit your site, they are viewing the Web pages stored in your FTP directory. To transfer files to your FTP directory, you will need the following account information. Please note that the Hosting/FTP user name and password provided here are NOT the same as your customer account user name and password.

Hosting/FTP User Name: teresa22
Hosting/FTP Password: t0322
Web Site URL: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
FTP Site URL: <ftp://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM>
Your Web Site Visitor Statistics: <http://www.TERESAPHOTO.COM/stats>

All transfers are done by uploading the files to your hosting account. We suggest either of the following two methods of transferring files:

Microsoft Internet Explorer

File Transfer Protocol (FTP) Utility - WS_FTP Using Internet Explorer

Internet Explorer allows you to transfer files directly to your FTP site without requiring an FTP utility.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/IE/ie.htm>

Open Windows Explorer to the folder that contains your Web site pages. Leave open as you will come back to this window. Establish an Internet connection, and then open Internet Explorer. In the Internet Explorer Address Bar, type your FTP Site address: "ftp://", followed by your domain name; for example, "ftp://www.namegoeshere.com". In the Log On As dialog box, enter your FTP user name and password, and then click Log On. If an FTP Folder Error dialog box appears, click OK, and then click Login As in the File menu to open the Log On As dialog box. Select the files to transfer in Windows Explorer and drag them to your FTP directory in Internet Explorer. You can also copy and paste the necessary files. Using WS_FTP File Transfer Protocol Utility

WS_FTP offers a full range of file transfer features that let you transfer files directly to your FTP directory.

For step-by-step instructions, go to: <http://ftphelp.secureserver.net/WSFTP/wsftp.htm>

Establish an Internet connection, and then open WS_FTP and click Connect. In the Session Properties dialog box, click New. Complete your profile. In the Profile Name text box, enter a profile name, for example My Profile; in the Host Name/Address text box, type your domain name (without the www.), for example godaddy.com; ignore the Host Type text box; in the User ID and Password text boxes, enter your FTP user name and password. Click OK. In the WS_FTP window, navigate to your Web site files in the Local System pane on the left side of the window. Double-click the file to transfer or select multiple files and click the transfer arrow located between the Local System and Remote Site panes. Click Exit and close the program. Assigning Domain Name Server Information

If your domain was registered by Go Daddy, we will automatically update your account information. However, if your domain is registered with another company, you will have to go to your domain registration account and assign the domain name servers (DNS) for your new hosting account. ough, too, Mom".

They kissed and the daughter left. The mother walked over to the window where I was seated. Standing there I could see she wanted and needed to cry. I tried not to intrude on her privacy but she welcomed me in by asking, "Did you ever say good-bye to someone knowing it would be forever?".

Yes, I have," I replied. "Forgive me for asking, but why is this a forever good-bye?".

"I am old and she lives so far away. I have challenges ahead and the reality is - the next trip back will be for my funeral," she said.

"When you were saying good-bye, I heard you say, 'I wish you enough'. May I ask what that means?".

She began to smile. "That's a wish that has been handed down from other generations. My parents used to say it to everyone". She paused a moment and looked up as if trying to remember it in detail and she smiled even more. "When we said, 'I wish you enough', we were wanting the other person to have a life filled with just enough good things to sustain them". Then turning toward me, she shared the following as if she were reciting it from memory.

I wish you enough sun to keep your attitude bright no matter how gray the day may appear.

I wish you enough rain to appreciate the sun even more.

I wish you enough happiness to keep your spirit alive and everlasting.

I wish you enough pain so that even the smallest of joys in life may appear bigger.

I wish you enough gain to satisfy your wanting.

I wish you enough loss to appreciate all that you possess.

I wish you enough hellos to get you through the final good-bye.

She then began to cry and walked away.

They say it takes a minute to find a special person, an hour to appreciate them, a day to love them but then an entire life to forget them.

To all my friends and loved ones,
I WISH YOU ENOUGH.....

Hi Teresa! I was wondering if it was possible to still order a reprint from the pictures you took of my girls this summer. If it is possible, I would like a 5X7 of picture 1-24 - it is a picture of the two girls together with Meagan touching the tree. Grandpa wants a picture for his office!! If you could e-mail be back and let me know I would appreciate it.

Standing near the security gate, they hugged and the mother said, "I love you and I wish you enough".

Just a quick note to say France is great!! The food is wonderful and the wine is amazing!! I visited many cool sights and museums and did a lot of shopping too! We are pretty much done in Lyon and Vienne...next, on to Paris!! We will be taking the train (186 mph) which takes about 2 hours. Most of the people here are great...I have met many Frenchmen, some Italians, a Scotsman, a couple from Finland...very eclectic group...and my limited French learning is coming in quite handy!! Wish you could all be here...this is amazing! See you soon...if I decide to come home.

Don't reply to this bc I won't have time to check it again!

Hi Corinna, Yes, I certainly can do pregnancy photos, and congratulations! These can be very special portraits and I usually recommend black and white. You could also do photos of your daughter alone if you'd like. Are you thinking you'd like to schedule an appointment on a Saturday or during the week? My schedule is flexible. You'd also be able to get these before Christmas, if you're interested in cards or gifts. Thanks for your email! Teresa

WorldWIT will host Camp WorldWIT 2006, its third annual, one-of-a-kind business conference, in the comfortable and casual environment of Trout Lodge from May 4-7, 2006.

Located just 90 miles south of St. Louis in the Ozark Mountains, the YMCA facility (www.ymcaoftheozarks.org) combines rustic surroundings and kefront views with comfortable accommodations and the convenience of wireless Internet. During the long weekend, Campers share entrepreneurial and corporate learning, hear outstanding keynoters and panel discussions, and have ample opportunities to share best practices.

Camp WorldWIT 2006 will be the off-the-grid networking event of the year, so please save the date, and read about the planning progress for Camp WorldWIT 2006 at our Camp blog: <http://tinyurl.com/dhyye> [http://tinyurl.com/dhyye] . If you'd like to receive a special notice when Early Bird registration becomes available, please write to rosemaryr@corp.worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=rosemaryr@corp.worldwit.org&YY=80260&order=do...] .

We hope you can join us!

Dear Anonymous,
 I say, Trust your instincts. If you haven't felt or been told that you are paranoid, then listen to your gut and exercise caution with the friendly-but-devious new co-worker.

Each time that you feel you've been misled, or that he has used selective communication to only tell you half of what you need to know, go back to him. Your posture in these interactions is friendly, but puzzled. "rad," you can say, "I need your help. There was a lot of confusion in the Marketing meeting about the pricing for the new product line. Jack said that you and he ironed everything out yesterday, but when you and I met this orning, you said that you didn't have details. Can we sort out what ppened?"

You have to call him on this EVERY TIME. You will not get a straight answer and you won't get a clear resolution. That isn't your intention. Your job is to let this guy know that he can't play you like that. Two or three repetitions should do it. If you just can't get him to be straight with you, you can approach the issue publicly - say, at a meeting - by using the same quizzical tone and expression. "Okay, that's weird, Brad," you say, "because in our meeting yesterday you said there hadn't been a decision about that issue." Put his two-facedness on display. I'm confident that you will shift his behavior, at least with respect to you.

Good luck. Trust your gut.
Cheers,
Liz

 Subject: Liz's thoughts on babies after 40

From: lizryan@corp.worldwit.org [/ym/Compose?To=lizryan@corp.worldwit.org&YY=80260&order=down...]

I was tickled to see Patti's note thanking WorldWITers for their advice on SSRIs and pregnancy, and for affirming for her that people really do have babies after age 40. When I was pregnant with my youngest, who was born when I was 42, I was freaked out about the "old mom" thing too. Now I think....how silly of me! People said to me then, "But you'll be 60 when he goes to college!" Okay, and...your point would be? What, will I be capacitated suddenly, on my 60th birthday?

 Party is the new thirty, so I hear. It's hard enough for a lot of people to become pregnant over 40, so if you have that good fortune, please, please don't lay the "older mom - oh no" trip on yourself too. Be happy, and take a nap.
 cheers
 Liz

Subject: Parents Night/flowers

Teresa- my apologies on not speaking on this earlier. At the game Tues.
I need to have you ask your girls if they want 1 or 2 carnations for the parents. Most of mine want 2 per girl, give them a price of 1.50$ per flower. The girls can pay for this- not that expensive. I am sure most will ask parents for the $. Try to tell them to give from there own pocket.
Do not give me $till next weeks game. I will cover till then. Just make note on
who paid and who did not, if it comes to be less I will let you know.
Please include the 2 young gals who are misplaced from the team- If they do want to
cover the cost. I will get a count from you when game is done and place order on Wed.
for black and orange carnations. Thanks
