

Avery attorney's social media strategy questioned

Zellner tweets about theories

JOHN FERA

USA TODAY NETWORK-WISCONSIN

Zellner

Baetz

Since late January, legions of “Making a Murderer” fans have developed an obsession — the latest tweets from Kathleen Zellner, Steven Avery’s high-profile criminal defense attorney from Illinois.

Now five months later, Zellner continues to reward her growing list of 163,000 Twitter followers with 140-character snippets of her theories and ongoing defense work on behalf of Avery, 53, who has remained incarcerated since his arrest in November 2005 for the death of freelance photographer Teresa Halbach of neighboring Calumet County.

But some have questioned the social media tactic, including Matthew

See ZELLNER, Page 5A

